PROSECUTOR TURNS DOWN LINDSAY'S NEW LAW LEAGUE

Warrants Denied to Detectives Who Bought Liquor on Sunday and Then Had Saloonkeeper Arrested.

The Missouri Law Enforcement League, Rev. S. I. Lindsay's new police anxiliary organization, was denied recognition Monday by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Falkenhainer, who has charge of the issuance of warrants.

William Schnaker and Harry Cornell, employes of the league, lodged with the warant officer a complaint against Michael J. Mooney, charged with selling them drinks Sunday in the saloon at 1006 Chestnut street. With them were Policemen Reardon and Quinn, who made the arrest after the detectives had called them in.

"I shall not issue any warrants on complaint of your league," Falkenhainer told the men. "You go beyond your rights in causing violations of the law, just to 'make a case.' This city has 1200 policemen sworn to enforce the law, and if more are needed the Police Board should provide them.

"If those we have are not doing their duty, your league or any organization or individual has a right to complain to the Police Board, but that is as far as you have a right to go. You must not take the law into your own hands."

BASHFUL JUDGE REFUSES TO SEE WOMAN'S KNEE

Mrs. Buckhart Offers to Show Him Where Brockhoff Kicked Her.

Mrs. Bertha Buckhart, a sturdy tradeswoman of the Biddle Market, was upheld Monday in the Dayton Street Police Court in her application of the law of might to commercial rivalry. Michael Brockhoff, whose fruit and vegetable stand adjoins hers at 1421 Cass avenue, and whom she scalded with hot coffee through jealousy at his business success, was fined a total of $35 on two charges by her of disturbing the peace.

This was done after Mrs. Buckhart had assured Acting Judge O'Hallaron that Brockhoff had kicked her near the right knee and had volunteered to show the scar. Judge O'Hallaron blushingly declined, but he sent Miss Blanche Ross, a deputy clerk in the court, to a private room with Mrs. Buckhart, and she reported that the scar was where Mrs. Buckhart said it was.

Fight Over Business.

Mrs. Buckhart is 30 years old, with blue eyes, regular features and a robust constitution. She told the Court that she had sold Brockhoff's stand to him, and that they had quarreled because, she admitted, he was more successful in business than she. When she took down her shutters at 5 a. m. Saturday Brockhoff taunted her, she said, with having to go to wo so early, and when she was passing his place with a bucket of coffee, pushed her. She said the push caused the coffee to splash against him. She picked up a hatchet and threw it, but it did not hit him, and they clinched. In the break-away Mrs. Buckhart sighted a private watchman and had her business rival arrested. He preferred a counter charge against her.

They Get Into Second Row.

Saturday afternoon Mrs. Buckhart laughed at Brockhoff because he was to appear in court, and they came again to blows. Brockhoff declared on the stand that Mrs. Buckhart hit him "a powerful blow," and said he got all the worst of both encounters.

Judge O'Hallaron decided that Brockhoff had been the aggressor ,and dismissed the charge against Mrs. Buckhart. She left the courtroom with a score of women friends who had gone to watch the outcome of the case, and who congratulated her effusively.

Brockhoff, a slender nervous man, remained to pay his fines.

Get out your flannels ear-muffs, furs and other warm clothing. A cold wave is headed this way. B-r-r-r-r! Feel the icy breath of Old Boreas? If you doubt these statements, call up the Weather Bureau and win a cigar, for Mr. Bowle will bet on the accuracy of the following prediction:

"Fair and cooler tonight and Tuesday; northerly winds."

This prediction is based on the fact that a storm from the Canadian Northwest is headed south and east and is now central over the Great Lakes. It is followed by cooler weather and is still moving toward St. Augustine. Heavy rain accompanies the storm, the downfall during 24 hours at Grand Haven, Mich., being 4.1 inches.

Temperatures at other cities at 7 a. m.: Boston and Cleveland, 74; New York, Omaha, Chicago and Pittsburg, 72; Denver, 62; St. Paul, 64; San Francisco, 52; Memphis and New Orleans, 84; Kansas City, 78.

The river stands at 26.4, a rise of .5 of a foot. It will continue to rise until a stage of about 27.5 is reached.

HORSE ONLY BLINKS AS A POLICEMAN SHOOTS AT HIM

Mystery Explained by Fact That The Pistol Was Loaded With Blanks.

Morris Feldman, a second-hand dealer at 1231 North Seventh street, had a horse which he thought should be killed. He appealed to Policeman Tomasso of the Carr Street District, furnishing the policeman with a revolver.

Tomasso aimed carefully and fired. The horse, instead of falling dead, shook its head as though a fly had bothered it, and closed its eyes in peaceful slumber.

"I don't see how I missed him," said Tomasso, walking to within a foot of the horse's head and firing again. The horse shook its head and seemed to smile at Tomasso.

"Well, I'll be—oh, the manual, the manual," exclaimed Tomasso as Policeman Shelton arrived. "I don't even make a dent."

"You need target practice," said Shelton, taking the revolver from Tomasso and firing. The horse started to walk away.

"What do you think of that?" exclaimed Tomasso. "The horse is bullet proof."

Shelton then drew his own revolver and killed the horse.

Feldman's boy had borrowed his revolver on the Fourth of July and loaded it with blank cartridges.

AUTO PLUNGES DOWN BANK IN MIDNIGHT RACE

Four Occupants Loop Loop in Midair, Narrowly Escaping Death.

ONE BREAKS AN ARM

Bryan Taylor, Only Member of Party Injured, Goes to Hospital.

A large touring automobile that swayed like the caboose of a fast freight as it bounded down the steep hill on the Clayton road, just west of the North and South road, in pursuit of a runabout racing car ahead, swerved off a 15-foot embankment at midnight Sunday and turned a complete somersault before landing in the ditch.

All four occupants escaped serious injury. Bryan Taylor, sales manager of the Pittsburg Plate Glass Co., was caught under the car and his right arm was broken at the elbow.

Taylor was taken to St. Luke's Hospital in the car of Robert Walsh of 3610 Delmar boulevard, who arrived at the scene of accident soon after it occurred. The car that went over the embankment was badly broken up, and its other occupants were picked up by passing cars and taken to their homes.

Driven by Judge's Son.

The machine was driven by John Reyburn, son of Judge Valle Reyburn. Young Reyburn is a student at Boston at the Massachusetts School of Technology, and is in St. Louis for his vacation. With his friends he started out early Sunday evening for a long ride through the country.

Taylor was sitting in the front seat with him. Valle Reyburn Jr., his brother, and Channing Turner, a classmate from Chicago, were in the roomy tonneau.

The trip out was made leisurely. But coming back about 10 o'clock Reyburn pushed the throttle lever to its last notch. Along the country roads the huge car roared, its headlights boring holes in the night.

Two miles west of the place where they ran off the road they overtook a runabout car. The car was kicking up clouds of dust, so Reyburn decided to get ahead. But the man in the racer let his car out, and around the turns, up hill and down hill, the cars bounded along.

Dangerous Stretch of Road.

Racing at night over the Clayton road is ticklish work, as there are many bad places, and as the headlights only light up the road ahead for a hundred feet or so. At the top of the hill, near the North and South road, Reyburn realized that the extra weight of his car would give him an advantage on the down grade.

Down the hill the two machines went. The red lamp on the runabout was barely a length away from the nose of Reyburn's car. Reyburn saw he was gaining and turned his exhaust into the Gabriel horn as a signal for a clear road. The noise of the engines would have made even a shouted warning impossible.

Turn Causes Accident.

The man in the car ahead turned into the middle of the road and Reyburn let out his throbbing engine. But just at this point they struck a slight turn. The runabout came back to the right of the road, as it half skidded, and Reyburn, to avoid a collision, pulled his machine to the right.

The heavy car turned sideways and landed in the ditch. The speed of the car probably saved the lives of its occupants.

FORMER SENATOR FARRIS TO PROSECUTE POLICEMAN

Appears in Court as Special Attorney Against Patrolman Humphrey.

Representative Frank Ferris, former State Senator, appeared Monday as special prosecutor in the trial of Policeman Thomas Humphrey, charged with the murder of Daneil Guy, an ambulance driver.

Farris' presence in the case was not explained by Assistant Circuit Attorney Jones, who was expected to act as prosecutor.

When the case was called in Judge Sale's court, Joseph McCoy, Humphrey's lawyer, asked Deputy Sheriff Hauch whether service had been obtained on William Reeves of 1254 Old Manchester road, a witness. On being told that Reeves had not been found, McCoy asked a continuance until Aug. 12, which was granted.

Circuit Attorney Sager said that he understood Farris had been retained to aid the prosecution in the Humphrey case, by whom he did not know, but that he had not been officially so notified. It is his understanding that former Senator Dave Nelson, Farris' law partner, is to aid him in the case.

Jury Holds Razor-Wielder.

A Coroner's jury Monday held John Shellenberger responsible for the death of William Cronin, whose throat was cut wit ha razor in a boarding house fight at 4338 Clayton avenue Saturday night. Witnesses said that he and Cronin had not been friends for several months prior to the tragedy.

GIRL WHO WAS ADJUSTING HER SHOE WHEN CANOE UPSET, AND HER DROWNED CHUM

GIRL SAVED AS CHUM DROWNS

Topples Over Canoe Adjusting Her Shoe Preparatory to Landing.

Search was resumed Monday in the Meramec River, near Valley Park, for the body of Miss Ruth Ledwidge of 4956 Washington boulevard, who was drowned there Sunday afternoon, while her chum, Miss Olive Winenow of 2615 Clark avenue was rescued by Ross Benham of 5320A Wells avenue, escort of the two young women.

The canoe containing the three turned over as, with Benham and Miss Ledwidge paddling, it was nearing a landing below the rapids of the Meramec. The movement of Miss Winenow in putting on her shoe, coming at the instant when Miss Ledwidge pulled the canoe to the same side with a particularly deep stroke, caused the accident.

Benham, an experienced swimmer and canoeist, grasped the clothing of both girls, and treading water, drew both for the few feet necessary to place them safely on the back of the overturned canoe. He swam beside, holding to the light boat to steady it. His clothing, over his bathing suit, he kicked off.

If the balance of the canoe could be maintained for a few minutes, Benham felt sure he could draw it to land with both the girls.

Tried for Safer Place.

But Miss Ledwidge, who sank twice before being pulled to the canoe, sought a surer hold. She tried to climb farther up on the side of the shell, and an instant later there were screams and the splash of a second reversal of the boat. It righted itself, then turned turtle a second time, while the two girls, now frantic from fear, sank.

As he had done before, Benham grasped the dresses of both, hoping to draw them back to the canoe.

As he held Miss Kinenow's head above the stream, she grasped him around the neck. To save himself and her, he was compelled to let Miss Ledwidge go. She sank, and neither he nor the members of a party canoeing downstream, who viewed the scene, saw her again.

Girl Disappears.

By main force he placed Miss Winenow where she could hold to the canoe, then dived for Miss Ledwidge. He was unable to find her, and, when almost exhausted, returned to the canoe, now some distance downstream, and guided it to a point near the other canoe.

The occupants of the second canoe, fearing an accident, did not attempt to take the two on board, but helped the drenched and gasping girl to keep her place until a flat-bottomed boat, whose owner had put out from the shore, 75 feet away, took her and Benham on board.

Before leaving Union Station for the scene of the tragedy, Benham related to a Post-Dispatch reporter the foregoing account of the tragedy.

Miss Ledwidge was an orphan and lived with her stemother, Mrs. Susan Ledwidge. She was 18 years old. The Ledwidge family is well known in Hot Springs, where they formerly lived.

Miss Winenow, who is the daughter of John Winenow, connected with the Union Station ticket office, said Monday:

"Both Mr. Benham and Miss Ledwide understood canoeing. Miss Ledwidge was in the bow, Mr. Benham was in the stern and I sat in the middle. We were in sight of the landing when I slipped on my shoe.

Had No Warning.

"Quick as a flash over we went into the water. I was under the boat and had my hand on it and Mr. Benham was holding me by the arm. He succeeded in getting Miss Ledwidge up on top of the overturned boat and would have had me up there in a minute, but Miss Ledwidge attempted to slide up just a little higher, and again fell into the water.

GIRLS LURE MAN WEARING BARREL ON TROUSER HUNT

Charles L. Newcomb, St. Louis Merchant, Forced to Cross Piasa Chautauqua Grounds in Boards, Later Finds Clothing Placarded "For Sale"

Charles L. Newcomb of 1418A Union boulevard, vice-president of the Newcomb Bros. Wallpaper Co., knows how it feels to be abroad in the land without any trousers and how useful a barrel is under these circumstances.

Mr. Newcomb's trousers were purloined while he was playing in the pool at Piasa Chautauqua and he went home in a barrel.

Mr. Newcomb and his wife, Mrs. Curl Newcomb, were watching the bathers, when Mrs. Newcomb called his attention to Miss Ruth West, Miss Lou Reuss and Miss Augusta Wilderman of Belleville and Miss Julia O'Connell of Collinsville, who were having a splash party in the shallow portion.

He was acquainted with them and when he remarked that what they needed was a good duckling, they splashed him and defied him, never dreaming that he would jump in with his clothes on. He did, though, and ducked them until they promised never to splash him again.

Clothes Hung to Dry.

When he put on his bathing suit he hung his trousers on the line to dry. When he came out of the pool they were gone. He accused the young women of taking them. They wouldn't say that they had and they wouldn't say that they hadn't. Finally, seeming to relent, they told him that he could have his trousers if he would come to the W. C. T. U. cottage, near by, for them.

It is against the rules to go through the grounds in bathing suits. A barrel was found and the end knocked out. It fitted well. Encased in this, Mr. Newcomb accompanied the young women to the cottage. On the veranda they told him that they didn't have his trousers and didn't know where they were.

Went Home on a Dare.

With him it was how to get home. There is no rule against going through the grounds in a barrel. Somebody dared him. That settled it. It was half a mile to his cottage, past the auditorium and all the cottages, but he went home in the barrel. Business was suspended during the time that he was passing by.

Later he found his trousers nailed up at the pool pavilion with a "For Sale" placarded on them. He discovered that Mrs. Newcomb, Harry Watson and Delong, the station agent, were the guilty ones.

150 PERSONS LOSE BATTLE FOR LIFE IN CRASH AT SEA

LIFEBOATS SWAMPED AND THEIR OCCUPANTS DROWNED

Capt. Doran and His Officers Remained Aboard and Were Lost When the Steamer Shot Beneath the Waves—Many Women Among the Dead.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Vanquished in a desperate battle for life against the odds of a dense fog, heavy seas and utter darkness, 150 persons went down to death and a few others were rescued after clinging for hours to the wreckage, as the result of a terrible sea disaster, word of which was received here this morning. The ships were the passenger steamer Columbia, northbound, from this city to Portland, and the small lumber steamer San Pedro, southward bound and heavily laden. They crashed off Shelter Cove, Mendocino County, early yesterday morning.

The Columbia left here Saturday evening carrying about one hundred and fifty passengers and a crew of 30, under the command of Capt. P. A. Doran. After dark a heavy fog came on and the steamer was feeling her way along the coast. The sea was troubled. The majority of the passengers were in their berths when Shelter Cove was passed.

Capt. Doran was on the bridge when, just after midnight, the black bulk of the San Pedro loomed up almost dead ahead. The Columbia at once reversed its engines and Capt. Doran put the helm hard aport, but it was too late to prevent the collision.

Cut to the Water Line.

With scarcely diminished speed the San Pedro, laden with lumber, crashed into the port bow of the passenger ship with a force that cut the iron steamer to the water line. Many of the passengers were killed or stunned in their berths

The force of the blow was terrific and both ships reeled apart as if they had struck solid rock.

Half clad and frenzied by fear, men and women rushed from the staterooms to the deck of the Columbia, which was settling rapidly by the bow. An effort was made to launch the lifeboats, Capt. Doran standing on the shattered bridge of his boat and shouting his orders through a megaphone.

Some of the boats had been wrecked in the collision, and so quickly did the Columbia go down that there was no time to launch the others.

Survivors say that all of the officers of the Columbia did their duty bravely and tried to save the women and children, but that they were powerless.

Feeling the steamer sinking below their feet, many of the men among the Columbia passengers and crew leaped into the sea and swam to the San Pedro, which could be made out drifting away through the fog. They alone, it seems, were saved.

One lifeboat was launched, but it was swamped the moment it hit the water by the weight of the men and women it carried. All who were in it are believed to have perished, drawn beneath the waves by the suction of the steamer when she went down.

Ship Plunges Beneath Waves.

At the last moment the stern of the Columbia rose far above the water, and many of the unfortunates slid the length of the deck as the steamer shot beneath the waves, with Capt. Doran clinging to the bridge and making no attempt to save himself.

The San Pedro, a wooden boat, was severely damaged by the collision, but was kept afloat by her cargo. Finding their steamer was safe for the time, the crew turned their attention to the task of rescuing the Columbia's passengers, and about eighty, who swam to the side of the freighter, were drawn on board.

Boats were launched and a number of others who had clung to the wreckage were taken on board.

Survivors among the passengers of the Columbia say that the San Pedro was not seen until she burst through the fog curtain less than a hundred feet away and headed straight for the passenger steamer. Why the fog horns were not heard is not made clear.

The San Pedro drifted around helplessly for two hours before the ... ed and the water-logged ship ... out by the steamer George W. ... which threw her a line and to... to Eureka.

Steamer Rescues Passengers.

The steamer Roanoke soon came up and took off the passengers, many of whom were clad only in their night garments and were suffering severely from exposure. They were taken to Eureka, whence the first news of the disaster was telegraphed to this city. Many of the drowned were residents of San Francisco. Others lived at Portland, the Columbia's destination, and other towns along the North Coast.

The Columbia was an iron screw steamer of 2722 tons register. She was built in 1890 by J. Roch & Son of Chester, Pa., and was owned by the San Francisco & Portland Steamship Co. She was 325 feet long, 38 feet beam and 13 feet draught.

The San Pedro was a wooden screw steamer of 465 tons register, built in 1899 at Aberdeen, Wash.

EVERY WOMAN PASSENGER LOST

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—According to J. C. Flynn, a rescued passenger of the Columbia, every woman passenger on board was lost.

The body of Edward Butler, supposed to be from Portsmouth, O., has been brought here.

LAUNCH RUNS AWAY AFTER IT UPSETS GIRL

Leaves Her and Companion to Struggle Alone in the River.

BOTH NEARLY DROWN

Girl Sinks Three Times and Throws Her Arms Around Man's Neck.

Run down by a launch on the Meramec River a few minutes before 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, at Meramec Highlands, Miss Laura Schorr, 3217A Texas avenue, and Seymour Scarborough, 5708 Edward street, were knocked from a rowboat and for some minutes faced death in the swift stream.

They were saved by three fishermen who witnessed their plight from the shore and put off to their rescue in a rowboat.

The version of the affair as given by Scarborough and Miss Schorr, is that the men in the launch attempted to run alongside the rowboat but instead hit it square amidships, overturning it and throwing the occupants into the water. The couple say that after the accident the launch steamed away, only one man on board making any attempt to assist them.

According to the story of Miss Schorr it was while she was rowing that the launch hove in sight and one of the men she said cried out: "Oh, look at the girl rowing. Let's go over and have a peep." The launch was accordingly headed in the direction of the skiff. It came full speed and when a few feet away attempted to turn and come alongside. This plan was unsuccessful and the skiff was hit.

Miss Schorr was thrown into the water first. When she came to the surface Scarborough made a grab for her and went down, too. While under the water Miss Schorr grabbed his foot and managed to climb up until her arms went around his neck. Scarborough grabbed the overturned skiff, but at this point one of the occupants of the launch reached for them and hit the skiff, breaking Scarborough's hold. Both man and girl sank from view, he for the second time and she for the third time. When they again came to the surface they were rescued by a party of fishermen.

As the launch steamed away one of the occupants is said to have shouted that any damage would be settled for if a call was made at a saloon at the northeast corner of Newstead and St. Louis avenues.

The owner of this place is J. G. Teschemacher. He said today that he had seen the accident, but denied that he was in the launch. The only one in the party he knew, he said, was a Mr. Gardner, the man who attempted to help the couple.

The men who rescued the couple were: Tony Solari, 5934 Minerva avenue; Daniel Murphy, 509 North Twentieth street, and George Roben, 234 Carr street.

Miss Schorr said today that at first she was very much scared but remembered to hold her breath while under the water and kick as hard as she could. After catching hold of Scarborough she said she felt no fear and was confident of being saved.

"VILLAGE BLACKSMITH" KILLED

Falls Off Porch While Seeking Cool Breeze.

Children in the 1600 block on Ohio avenue will miss James Mallon, the "Village Blacksmith" who has worked at his forge at 1647 Ohio avenue for eighteen years. He died Sunday at the City Hospital, after falling from a third-story porch of his home at 1701 Lafayette avenue while seeking a cool breeze.

His skull was fractured, his left leg and arm broken and he was internally injured. His body was not found for several hours after he fell early Sunday morning. How the accident happened is not known, but it is supposed that he walked out on the roof of the porch while half asleep.

He named himself the "Village Blacksmith," and a sign over his door bore the words.

DOGS BITE TWO GIRLS, TWO BOYS AND A MAN

Annie Austin, Aged 5 Years, Siezed by the Cheek—Was Dangerously Wounded.

Five children were bitten by dogs Sunday and the condition of one is serious. A big shepherd dog also caused alarm in Fountain Park until it was killed by Policeman Rodeman of the Deer Street District. The dog was the property of Daniel C. Donovan of 2325 Fountain avenue.

Annie Austin, 5 years old, of 1441 Cleary avenue, was bitten on the left cheek by a dog which belongs to James Angelo. Her father carried her to the office of Dr. O. Gibson of 1312 North Jefferson avenue. Her condition is critical.

Abe Stein, 3 years old, of 2806 Dickson street was bitten by a dog which belongs to Sam Stiepler, who lives in the lower flat. The wound was cauterized.

Clotilde Bennett, 11 years old, of 510 Wash street was bitten by a dog in the rear of 1006 North Sixth street.

A. B. Burch, 26 years old, of 4712A Virginia avenue was bitten on the right arm by a dog owned by Gotlieb Geiger, 4710 Virginia avenue.

COFFEE TRUST PLANNED HERE

Broker Seeks to Consolidate 17 Concerns With $6,000,000 Capitalization.

Dudley D. Lancaster of the brokerage firm of J. N. Kreider & Co. is planning to merge 17 St. Louis coffee firms into a single corporation with a capitalization of $6,000,000. Cyrus F. Blanke, head of the C. F. Blanke Tea and Coffee Co., one of the largest of the 17 concerns, says Lancaster has "a very good show" of succeeding. Other coffee dealers are not quite so enthusiastic over the outcome of Mr. Lancaster's idea.

The idea of Mr. Lancaster is that just as much, if not more, money may be made by the individual concerns through stock in the proposed corporation, the plants may be operated at much less expense, with fewer officials, and the quality and price of the output of all the companies may be regulated and controlled.

According to persons in a position to know, the capital invested in the 17 concerns which is proposed to merge is only $2,250,000.

DEMOCRATS OF NINETEENTH WARD HAVE SUNDAY OUTING

Interesting Athletic Contests a Feature of Picinc at Riverside Park.

The Nineteenth Ward Democratic Club had its second outing of the season Sunday at Old Riverside Park, above Alton. The steamer Moline carried 110 members of the club there and back.

The swimming race was won by George Ott, the heavyweight race by D. Lindsey, the potato race by Eugene Haney and the running broad-jump by James O'Keefe.

There were no women in the party. The club is planning to have another outing in August, to which the women folks will be invited to go.

150 CHILDREN GO INTO THE GREEN FIELDS FOR 2 WEEKS

They Will Have a Jolly Time, Swimming, and Fresh Eggs.

Children's merry shouts filled the Midway at Union Station Monday morning, while a party of 150 boys and girls, the third sent out during the present summer, waited to board a train for the Children's Industrial Farm at Eureka, St. Louis County. They will remain at the farm two weeks.

The party was made up from Niedringhaus Mission, Markham Memorial Church and Union Congregational Church, all located in the more crowded districts of the city. Mrs. Price Tillery was in charge.

During their stay at the farm the children will enjoy daily plunges in the farm's big swimming pool, daily romps in the shay grove, daily ice-cream feasts and the luxury of fresh eggs and vegetables.

"SHANG" DRAPER PASSING AWAY

Notorious New York Gambler Dying in Arkansas.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

NEW YORK, July 22.—Advices received in this city state that "Shang" Draper, at one time a leading light of New York's under world, is dying at a health resort near Hot Springs, Ark.

Draper is best remembered through his connection with the big Northampton and Manhattan bank robberies made by "Red" Leary, "Jimmy" Hope, "Jimmy" Irving and others. He had a gambling place in West Twenty-eighth street, New York, where he made a fortune, which he afterwards dissipated, largely in helping broken gamblers and "crooks" in trouble.

CHARGES AGAINST POLICE JUDGE KLEIBER DISMISSED

Mayor Exonerates Him From Accusation of Anti-Saloon League Lawyer.

Mayor Wells Monday dismissed the charges preferred against Police Judge Frank M. Kleiber by Attorney Charles E. Blair of the Anti-Saloon League.

It was alleged that the Judge refused to permit Special Officer Guibor to testify in the League's behalf against two young women accused of midway dancing at a South St. Louis amusement resort.

Judge Kleiber explained to the Mayor that he ordered Guibor to step down because he did not comply with the rules of evidence in giving his testimony.

EIGHT CARS OF BEER DRUNK AT LAKE REGATTA

Lid Was Entirely Off and Forgotten at Creve Coeur Sunday.

Eight carloads of beer, served by a small army of bartenders, was openly sold and consumed by about 15,000 thirsty individuals at Creve Coeur Lake Sunday. There was no effort made to try to evade the law by establishing "clubs." Men, women and children drank at the outdoor bars together. As "Red," one of the bartenders, declared when questioned after selling several bottles of beer to a woman: "We'll sell to anybody that has the price today."

Races of the regata were a half-hour apart. Before the races, between each of the seven contests and until 10:30 p. m., when the last rain pulled out for St. Louis, the crowd valiantly tried to replace the lid by drinking the entire supply. Early in the day they did, by numerous and heavy assaults, drink all the keg beer.

According to a Missouri Pacific railway conductor, eight carloads of beer were taken out to the lake, and although some of the crowd drank themselves into a state of complete exhaustion or intoxication, the bars were still doing business when the last train pulled out. A portion of the crowd was too tired, or did not have the inclination to return to St. Louis and its lid.

May Abandon Regatta.

Tuesday evening the officers of the Southwestern Amateur Rowing Association will hold a meeting at the New St. James Hotel, at which it may be decided to hold the annual regatta next year at some other place than Creve Coeur Lake, or not at all. It costs money to hold a regatta and the railroad and contributions from Jacob Studt, who controls the bar and other privileges at the south end of the lake, make possible the regatta.

"The regatta is simply an excuse for a big lid-lifting each year from which a golden harvest is reaped from the drinking privileges," declared one of the regatta officials who wished his name withheld. "Studt's contribution each year makes the regatta possible, but the regatta gets a very small share of the profits and besides has to saddle the responsibility of all of this in the name of amateur athletics.

"Boys were allowed to go up to the bar, buy beer and openly drink it. A short time later these same youths out in a boat on the lake would get in the course for the races, either refuse to get out of the way or sometimes from the effects of the liquor, or because they did not understand rowing, they would paddle around in circles while trying to get clear of the racing shells."

Bottles Smashed for Sport.

The bottle smashers were called "glassblowers" by the oarsmen because they wanted to give the glassblowers work by smashing all the bottles they could get their hands on. All of the bars charged 15 cents for a pint bottle of beer, whereas on Saturday 10 cents was the charge. As the beer can be purchased at considerably less than 5 cents per bottle it was no wonder that the crowd felt that when they bought a bottle they were privileged to do what they wished with it.

Most of the crowd threw the bottles at the bases of some of the huge trees. The bottles landed so rapidly that men with baskets could not pick them up fast enough and they were soon breaking and crashing merrily as one bottle struck on top of the other. Others dropped their bottles on the railroad track, where they shattered on the steel rails.

The past two years there has been no attempt made to obey the Sunday-closing law at the lake. One bar, located on a float on the lake, did remain closed a part of the morning, only to open up full blast when the first trains arrived shortly before noon.

Burglars Steal Spring Chickens.

A pair of spring chickens and Sunday dinner "trimmings" were taken by burglars, who entered the home of Thomas C. Hennings, 6049 Cabanne avenue, Sunday morning. The burglars got into the house by forcing a sitting room window. They also took a watch and $1.50.

THREE POLICE CAPTAINS TO GO

Big Shakeup When Commissions Expire Is Preceded by Many Immediate Transfers.

Three captains of police, according to a report from a reliable Four Courts source, are to be dropped from the force when their commissions expire Aug. 21. It is understood that they will simply not be recommissioned.

The three men are said to belong to the old school, politically, and not to have learned that the old school had been replaced by the new.

Several lieutenants and sergeants, it is understood, will also fail to be recommissioned and many patrolmen will suffer the same fate. Nine-tenths of the comissions expire Aug. 21.

Chief Creecy continued Monday the transferring of lieutenants and sergeants begun Saturday. Sergt. Austin O'Toole was transferred from the Central to the Mounted District; Sergt. Lawrence Walsh, promoted Saturday, was transferred from the Newstead Avenue to the Central District; Sergt. Peter Joyce, former Captain, was transferred from the Newstead Avenue Station to the Mounted Station for office work; Lieut. James Hickman was transferred from the Mounted to the Angelica District; Sergt. Mathew Cummins of the Angelica District, now on furlough, will be transferred to the Mounted when he returns.

Chief Creecy will confer with Mayor Wells Monday relative to the appointment of a sergeant to succeed Seth Singleton as sergeant-at-arms at the Mayor's office. The sergeants look upon the appointments as an advantageous one politically and they are all anxious to get it.

Five detectives have made application for the rank of Sergeant, which is no higher than the rank of detective. It is understood that their desire to get into uniform is prompted by uncertainty in their present position. As there are not enough men in the Detective Bureau, the St. Louis system will not be enjoyed by detectives.

LAKES-TO-GULF CONVENTION PLANS ARE ALL ARRANGED

Memphis Association Leaves Here After Completing the Work.

The delegation of the Business Men's Association of Memphis, Tenn., which has been in the city since Saturday morning, to arrange the details of the convention of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway Association, to be held in Memphis, Oct. 4 and 5, left for home Sunday evening, after completing arrangements for the convention in a meeting held Sunday afternoon at the summer home of William Kavanaugh, president of the association, at Selma.

Arrangements were also made for the entertainment of President Roosevelt during his visit to Memphis. Invitations to the convention will be issued to every important city in the Mississippi Valley.

Addresses will be delivered by the President and by the governors of several states. Other matters discussed at Sunday's meeting were the lodging of delegates, their entertainment, selection of a suitable hall and the banquet to be given as a feature of the convention.

WIFE DID NOT ATTEND THE FUNERAL OF HER HUSBAND

Had Brother-in-law Arrested for Threats and He Retaliated.

The funeral of Fred W. Strait of 2516 Belleview avenue, East St. Louis, who died Friday night at his home, took place Sunday afternoon from the home of his brother, T. B. Strait of Cottage Station, to Mount Hope Cemetery. His wife did not attend the funeral and the expected trouble to T. B. Strait and his brother's wife was averted, following their arrest Saturday night on counter charges of threats to kill.

After causing her brother-in-law's arrest Saturday night charging that he threatened to kill her if she attended her husband's funeral, Mrs. Strait announced that she would accompany the cortege to the cemetery, regardless of consequences.

Friends prevailed upon her to stay away, after she had given a bond to keep the peace. Instead of attending the funeral the widow hired a furniture van and removed the furniture and personal property from her home for safekeeping.

A disagreement over possession of her husband's property caused the trouble between Mrs. Strait and her brother-in-law. The trials on the threat charges will be held Saturday morning before Justice Moussette at Centerville Station.

UNIONS GROWING SAYS GOMPERS

Labor Leader Says Conditions Are Brighter Than They Have Been.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who will deliver an address on "Labor" at the Odeon Monday night, arrived in St. Louis Monday morning and registered at the Laclede. He spent the morning in conference with Owen Miller, president, and other officers of the Central Trades and Labor Union, under whose auspices the meeting at the Odeon will be held.

"I would like to have everybody who is interested hear my speech," he said, "whether they be laboring men or employers of labor. I would like even to have the critical come, for I do not mind being criticised for what I say. I would like everybody to come whose mind is open to conviction. I would like them to hear my view of the labor question."

Mr. Gompers wore a black silk skull cap and smoked a pipe as he sat in his room at the Laclede in his shirt sleeves and talked to callers.

"Conditions in labor circles are better now than they have been," he told a Post-Dispatch reporter. "There has been an increase of 100,000 members in the labor organizations in the past seven months.

"When I say labor conditions are better, I not only mean that wages are higher and membership in labor organizations larger, but I mean there is less bitterness between employers and employes."

Drowned Roustabout Found.

The body of Charles Green, a negro roustabout, who fell into the river from the steamer Cape Girardeau June 19 and was drowned, was found at Lawrence street Sunday noon by C. B. Paxtol, a sailor of the steamer Chester, while going south in a launch. The identification was made by William Hyrd of 405 North Levee.

Society

Summer touring in automobiles has begun in earnest for those St. Louisans who are at the various resorts with their machines. Never in the social history of the city have so many persons taken cars with them for use on Eastern and Northern roads. Many shipped machines to some especially good starting point and thus broke the long railroad journey to New Hampshire, Connecticut and Long Island resorts.

One interesting party started in two cars Saturday for the nearby resort of Culver, Ind., and Lake Maxintukee. Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Neville and Mr. Elmer Neville occupied one machine, while Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Culver, their two children, and Mrs. Culver's niece, Miss Marie Wimmer, were in the other.

They went from St. Louis directly to Terre Haute, Ind., and thence to Lake Maxintukee, which they will reach Monday night, provided the roads are favorable.

A telegram received by Mr. Wimmer Sunday evening from his daughter, Miss Marie, states that their trip has been delightful and that they have found the roads in splendid condition. This party has gone primarily to attend the commencement exercises of the Culver summer school, but will remain until early fall and occupy their cottages.

SHE WILL SAIL THIS WEEK FOR SWITZERLAND

Miss Anna Force, Miss Adele Armstrong, Messrs. Fred Campbell and Martin Seward have expressed themselves as quite undaunted by the somewhat unfortunate termination of their last overland auto trip to Gray Summit, Mo., when they broke down three miles from St. Louis and had to walk home at midnight, carrying extra tires and other impedimenta that was too valuable to leave with the machine.

They are now planning a Chicago trip which will be taken as soon as Miss Armstrong returns from an Eastern visit. This tour is expected to extend over several days and the party will make a number of stops to visit friends in Illinois.

Col. and Mrs. James Gay Butler, who went to Buffalo, took their car and motored to their present summer home at Fort Griswold, Conn., report the trip as highly successful. It was made in three days, with stops. They are now exploring the New England States and spend their entire time motoring.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Nugent and their family are also at Fort Griswold, engaged in the same pleasant occupation.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Mersman are making Narragansett Pier their headquarters while touring from one resort to another along the coast. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McKittrick, with Miss Nellie Wickham and several young people, have just returned from Jamestown, R. I., to Narragansett and thence for a trip along the coast.

An Extraordinary Offering for Ten Days Only

Tailored Skirt Made to Your Measure for $1.95

AT the urgent request of hundreds of customers we are going to repeat our offer of making Skirts to your measure for $1.95. So, beginning tomorrow, you can buy any material you desire at our dress goods counters in either black or colors, whether it be 15c goods or a $3.50 fine Parisian voile, and have it made up in any style you prefer. We are exhibiting fifteen late skirt models, each one bearing a placard plainly stating the amount of material required in the making. Your measure will then be taken by an expert man tailor, as before, and in a few days a perfect-fitting and perfectly made garment will be delivered to your home. Some models only require 3½ yards, while others more elaborate require 4 and 4½ yards. However, you will only be charged for the exact amount required, down to the very inch. The five models here illustrated are picked at random from the several we are showing. All are made by the leading skirt manufacturer of St. Louis, whose factory is equipped for special-order work of this kind, and a guaranteed fit is assured. Take advantage of this offer and buy two or three skirts when you can have them made for..... $1.95

LAWYER-POET SEEKING DEATH, PLEADS FAILURE

Louis D. Goodman Cuts His Throat With Razor in His Office.

MAN OF MANY PARTS

Loves Poetry, Philosophy, Economics and Music Lacking Concentration.

Louis D. Goodman, lawyer and dreamer, who "knocked at all doors and entered at none," found his way to the portal of death when he cut his throat in his office on the seventh floor of the Carleton Building Sunday.

At the City Hospital Monday it was said that his condition is slightly improved and that there is a chance for his recovery.

At the age of 39, Goodman, a bachelor of brilliant mind, found that dabbling in many things had made him unfit for any one thing and the realization came to him that he was a failure as a worker in a busy and practical world.

For several months he had been despondent. To his friends he often complained that the legal profession is so overcrowded that an effort to succeed in it meant only a fierce battle for existence where strength of mind does not always win.

In a note which he left for his closest friend, Ben C. Lindsay, an attorney whose office adjoined his he said that his greatest defect was a lack of concentration.

This was shown throughout his career. He did not devote all of his talents to the practice of law. He was a poet, a philosopher, a Socialist propogandist, a deep student of Shakspeare, a blind follower of Emerson, an orator, a writer on economic subjects and a lover of music.

Heat Harrassed Him.

Goodman left his boarding place, 815 North King's highway, at 7 a. m. Sunday. He ate breakfast as usual and seemed cheerful, though he complained to Mrs. Sarah Armstrong, his landlady, that he had not slept well because of the heat.

He went direct to his office. He spoke pleasantly to Roy Neace, the elevator boy with whom he rode. He and Neace were the only persons in the building.

At 9:45 Neace, at the bottom of the shaft, was signaled by a bell. The indicator showed that the ring came from the seventh floor. He went there, but finding no one continued to the top of the shaft. On the down trip he again stopped at the seventh floor. This time he opened the door of the cage and looked out.

He saw a trail of blood leading from the matting in front of the elevator to Goodman's office. Following it, he found Goodman half reclining in a chair and attempting to stanch the flow of blood which was pouring from his throat. Near him on the floor was a corn razor.

Neace summoned Dr. Roy, who gave emergency treatment and hurried Goodman to the City Hospital.

Makes Will in Hospital.

From the hospital Goodman sent for his friend Mr. Lindsay, who drew up his will. He bequeathed his library to Joseph Solari, his desk and fountain pen to Mr. Lindsay and his watch to Morris Jacques of Hot Springs, Ark. His only living relatives are said to be Mrs. Helen M. Davis of Hot Springs, Ark., and Mrs. I. Barrow of Shreveport, La., sisters.

BEER A-PLENTY AT LID CLUBS

Authorities Did Not Interefere With Members Who Drank.

A rushing business was done by the lid-lifting clubs of St. Louis County Sunday afternoon without any interference from the county officials. There was no dearth of liquid refreshments at Creve Coeur Lake, Meramec Highlands or Delmar Garden, and crowds of visitors took advantage of the situation.

Jesse Ruebling was arrested in Wellston by Deputy Sheriff Campbell.

William Schnaker and Harry Cornell, employed by the Missouri Law Enforcement League, caused the arrest of Hyatt Stevison of 1006 Chestnut street Sunday in a raid made on the saloon of James F. Mooney at that number. They notified the police that they had been able to buy bottled beer in a room over the saloon. Half a dozen men who were in the room at the time of the raid escaped. Stevison was later released, as the evidence was not sufficient to hold him.

Policeman Falls and Breaks Arm.

While walking through an alley in the rear of 1304 North Eleventh street Sunday night Policeman Ryan of the Carr Street District stumbled across an old bedspring. In trying to save himself from falling Ryan threw out his right arm and the weight of his body fell upon it, fracturing it between the elbow and shoulder. He will be confined to his home for several weeks.

DREAMER WHO, TIRED OF BATTLE IN PRACTICAL WORLD, SEEKS DEATH

L. D. GOODMAN. Murillo Portrait.

LOUIS D. GOODMAN.

POET GOODMAN'S FAREWELL TO THE WORLD

"I feel utterly worthless; of harm to all persons who strive to serve me, and not knowing what else to do I have concluded to die. The utter failure of my life is to be attributed to an incapacity to affine with my fellows and also an utter inability to apply myself with steadfast constancy to any one thing. I hope no one will say worse things of me than I have said about myself, to-wit, that I am a fool and a weakling."

CHILDREN EARN $35 FOR PURE MILK FUND

Unique Entertainment in Which the Saving of a Baby by Means of Pure Milk Is Dramatized.

THROUGH the efforts of three little girls, Edna Flori, aged 9; Hortense Rechnitzer, aged 5, and Catherine Flori, aged 4, $35.50 has been added to the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Ice Fund. This was the amount received from an entertainment and vaudeville performance given by the three little girls at the home of their parents, 4167 Lindell boulevard, Thursday evening.

The three little tots alone took part in the performance, and presented a lengthy and interesting program like finished stage performers, to the delight of over one hundred persons who witnessed the entertainment. Not once did the little players suffer from "stage fright," but carried through the program, consisting of two sketches, recitations and songs, like veterans.

The entertainment took place at the residence of Mrs. Charles P. Flori, 4167 Lindell boulevard, where a small stage had been erected upon the lawn, which was brilliantly illuminated with electric lights, and decorated with Chinese and Japanese lanterns.

The program presented was as follows:

Music ..... Les Rameaux
Tom and Mary in Poverty Row—
Edna and Catherine Flori and Hortense Rechnitzer.
Back Yard Conversation by Two Irish Washerwomen—
Edna Flori and Hortense Rechnitzer.
Song ..... Edna Flori
Song ..... Catherine Flori
Song ..... Hortense Rechnitzer
Recitation ..... Edna Flori
Recitation, The Trial ..... Hortense Rechnitzer
Song ..... Hortense Rechnitzer

The sketch, "Tom and Mary in Poverty Row," which was written by Mrs. Lillian Rechnitzer, mother of little Hortense, realistically depicted the conditions and sufferings of those for whom the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Ice Fund was established, and for whose benefit the little players were acting. The rising of the curtain revealed Edna Flori, as "Mary," leaning over a bed, in which lay little Catherine Flori, the "baby," suffering for want of pure milk and ice which her parents have no money to buy. At this juncture, Hortense Rechnitzer enters as "Tom," the husband, costumed for the part in ragged coat and trousers. "Mary" tells "Tom" of the baby's condition, and he declares "twere better to steal than let the baby die." After some dialogue, in which the children acted admirably, Tom turns toward the door, fixed in his purpose to obtain milk for the child in some way, while Mary falls to her knees and offers up a fervent prayer for help. Now comes the denouement. Tom has reached the door, when suddenly it opens, an arm apears and thrusts into his hand a bottle of milk. Mary rushes to his side, and he clasps her in his arms.

"Tom, Tom, our baby is saved," cries Mary. "It is the Post-Dispatch man, with milk and ice for the baby."

And the curtain falls. This climax made the hit of the evening, and the young performers were obliged to respond to several curtain calls.

In the second sketch, entitled "Back-yard Conversation by Two Irish Washwomen," Edna Flori and Hortense Rechnitzer surprised their auditors by their excellent Irish dialect. The recitation by Hortense, entitled "The Trial," which was also written by Mrs. Rechnitzer, was a lengthy selection given in a surprisingly good manner. Little Miss Rechnitzer was pronounced a second Anna Held, in her rendition of the song, "Won't You Throw a Kiss at Me?" The song and recitation by Edna Flori received much applause.

Several business houses of the city gave liberal assistance to the enterprise by donations of material to be used in the decorations and serving of refreshments.

IDLE, ENDS LIFE BEFORE WIFE

County Man Throws Himself in Front of Train.

Failure to get work and fear of being evicted from his home is said to be the reason why James A. Withrow, 23 years old, of Gardenville, St. Louis County, threw himself in front of a moving train Sunday. His wife, his stepdaughter and six other women saw his body thrown by the engine.

He was taken to the Tower Grove Station on the train and then to the City Hospital in an ambulance. He died Sunday night. He was married recently to a widow several years his senior.

SHERIFF IS ON HIS WAY HOME WITH MAGILLS

Accused Couple Are Expected to Reach Clinton, Ill., by Thursday.

WILL ARRIVE AT NIGHT

Marguerite Magill, the Daughter, Is Thought to Be in St. Louis.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CLINTON, Ill., July 22.—No one is nearer a solution of the Magill case than a week ago, when the excitement was at the highest pitch. The consensus of opinion here is that Fred H. Magill killed his wife; that this was done directly or indirectly. None will go farther.

The pastors of the churches in their sermons yesterday evaded the Magill matter. One minister said: "I had though of referring to the matter but came to the conclusion that the minds of the people were inflamed sufficiently, and we are all interested in giving the Magills the fairest kind of a trial. For that reason, I will pass it over for the present."

State's Attorney Arthur Miller has heard from Sheriff Campbell, who is on his way home with the prisoners. This has had a quieting effect. Not that the people are less interested in the case or less inclined to see justice done, but they wish to see the Magills brought into court.

The prisoners will in all probability be brought here at night. This will be done to avoid the crowds which naturally would be at the station through curiosity.

Marguerite Magill left San Diego, Cal., several days ago and is supposed to be in St. Louis.

The State's Attorney believes the prisoners will reach Clinton not later than Thursday morning. The hour when mob law was talked by some has passed and even those who suggested extreme measures are now silent.

New Bill at Mannion's.

The new bill at Mannion's Park, put on at yesterday's matinee and evening performance, is of pleasing variety and excellent quality. It is headed by Scott and Wilson, two unusually clever acrobats, who are pleasantly remembered as co-stars with Joseph Stanley in "The Runaway Boy" and as members of the original "Fantasma" production. Other features are Bowman brothers, black-face comedians, singers and dancers; Wells brothers, musical comedians; the Burnett-O'Rourke trio, singers and dancers; Dollie Wells, cartoonist, and the Mannionscope pictures. Joe Lane sings in the garden after the show.

Sorrentino's Band at Highlands.

Forest Park Highlands was the center of attraction for many thousands yesterday afternoon and evening, and the band concerts and vaudeville entertainment proved satisfying. Sorrentino's popular Banda Rossa begins its engagement with today's matinee and evening concerts and is likely to break all Highlands records.

The vaudeville bill in Hopkins' pavilion offers exceptionally bright entertainment. Its topliners are the Colonial septette, one of the best musical organizations on the vaudeville stage, in their celebrated Old-Time Halloween sketch, with elaborate scenic setting and high-class vocal and instrumental music. Among other features are the Three Rennards, novelty gymnasts; Berry, the frog man; Ruth Henderson, vocalist, and Bert Lawnin, equilibrist.

The Demonios at Lemp's Park.

The famous Demonios, ring and trapeze gymnasts head the new bill which opened at Lemp's Park yesterday, and give a thrilling act. The Lyceum Minstrels contribute an entertaining hour of old-time minstrelsy, and two new shows have been added to the Midway.

"The Man From Nevada" at Eclipse.

"Faust" closed its week's engagement at Eclipse Garden with last night's performance. This evening "The Man From Nevada" will be put on for the current week, with Arthur Stanley in the leading role of a Westerner learning the ways of a big Eastern city. Illustrated songs and specialties are given between the acts.

Makes a Double Suburban Hit in "Miss Hobbs" and Imitations

CECILIA LOFTUS

News of the Theatres

THERE'S going to be a curious and hotly contested race out at Suburban Theater during the two weeks now just begun. The start was made last night. Cecelia Loftus in "Miss Hobbs" was the first off when the flag fell. "Cissie" Loftus in imitations was the next to dash away from the post. The race is between these two.

And they're a quite distinct two—although two in one.

It's a refreshingly novel race. I don't know that such a race has ever before been run on our stage. I'm not sure that anyone but Miss Loftus could run it. Until now, I had never seen her thus employ her astonishing double gift of creation and imitation within one evening's space limits. Just what impression might be produced by the "doubling-up" act of the young player who was good enough in her own right to take leading-woman roles with Sir Henry Irving, and who so powerfully mimicked Sarah Bernhardt as deeply to chagrin that great tragedienne, was the problem that made last night's venture so peculiarly interesting.

"Create!" grumbled the divine Sarah to the audacious Cissie. "Don't imitate! You're wasting yourself!"

But I'm not so sure about that.

Looks Like a Dead Heat.

Last night's audience, crowding the Suburban to the doors, seemed to relish Cecelia and Cissie Loftus with an equal relish. In the title role of "Miss Hobbs" it saw Cecelia as a rather wistful and sorely misjudged young woman, condemned as a man-hater, even while a very sweet love of the right man was awakening in her virgin bosom, and it liked her so well that it rejoiced vociferously over the happy ending of her little romance. Then, when the curtain rose soon thereafter, it saw Cissie impudently mimicking Bernhardt and Alla Nazimova and Ethel Barrymore and others of lesser degree—and I'm blest if anyone could tell whether Cecilia or Cissie was the winner in the first night's run. Miss Loftus was called out after the last curtain amid tremendous applause, bowing and smiling and waving grateful hands at the people in front.

Was it Cecelia or Cissie, then? I couldn't decide to my own satisfaction.

Comedy—With a Touch of Pathos.

And that's the way it's going to be throughout her engagement, I believe. She plays "Miss Hobbs" very delightmaking itself manifest in a thousand little satisfying ways. There's a wonderful range of emotional expression in her mobile face. Laughter flashes into it so swiftly as to seem almost elfish. The presage of impending tears is equally sudden—I've never seen a more precipitate, naive and childlike quiver of the lips than comes to hers upon occasion. The voice, too, is tuned to the same fleetly changing phases of feeling. And there's a certain baffling charm about her "Miss Hobbs" that's all Miss Loftus' own—it's a comedy character set in a story almost farcical, yet it possesses an odd touch of pathos that adds much—and legitimately—to its magnetic appeal. The whole house seemed to rejoice when masterful Wolf Kingsearl finally transformed her from a man-hater to—in his case—a man-lover. And the wager-winning kiss that she gives him as the curtain goes down on their story plainly tickled the audience to its very soul.

After which came the imitations—May Irwin, Vesta Victoria, Josephine Sabel, Julius Steger, Hattie Williams and Marie Dressler being among the imitated, in addition to those I have already mentioned. They were marvelously clever, and, I am told, new imitations will be introduced at each performance.

Thais Magrane at West End Heights.

Miss Thais McGrane is an actress of the Odette Tyler type—rather short, capable-looking and seemingly better in the heavier moments than in those which demand spontaneity and the things which must be brought to the stage and which no amount of experience and training can bestow upon anyone. She is going to rattle around in Ethel Fuller's shoes a bit in the crisp tragedy which is Miss Fuller's forte, but her wider range in temperament will make possible a greater variety of plays at West End Heights, particularly admitting those dealing with the romantic.

It is a question if Paul Leicester Ford left the stage a legacy or a lemon in "Janice Meredith," which is introducing Miss McGrane at the Heights this week. Following closely upon Winston Churchill's "Richard Carvel" and Charles Major's "When Knighthood Was in Flower," the novel smacked much of fishing in the same place. Well do we recall the sensation of seeing Mary Mannering play it—a consciousness of being full of red lemonade. It was giving the gum-chewing girls at the library counter what they wanted with a vengeance, which not only lessened the magnitude of Mary Mannering as a star for some time, but came perilously near retiring the miniature as a colonial relic.

This was not, then, an altogether advantageous introduction of the new leading lady at the Heights, nor quite the time to judge of her ability. As far as it permits, she is pleasing in it, and the impression she made was good. She is thoroughly at home on the stage in the manner that characterizes some players, even though all of them deny that they ever are wholly at ease in the presence of spectators. She knew her part and understood it, and she wore the abominable skirt of that time in the way of a stage woman who wears all costumes well. (We never did believe a young woman dressed in one of those skirts could have affected a young man in a manner to make him dare so much for love as Jack Brereton does in this story.)

"Janice Meredith" is carefully produced and played. The text strikes strangely upon the ear at times, and one is almost tempted to stop the show and demand an explanation of the anachronism where a young man of '76 exclaims, "Cut that out!" But that possibility was in the book, for the book was fearfully and wonderfully made, as we recall it. The support given Miss McGrane is worthy of commendation. Frank La Rue has the leading male part, and his Captain Brereton is nicely done. Edmund Soraghan, who has played at the Heights in former years, develops much amusement for the house in the part of Philemon, who will be remembered as the country Jake who regarded the lady Janice as his own. Harry J. Scott is also amusing as 'Squire Henion, the son-bug dad of this big stand-up-and-bawl-for-mush. A considerable part of the enormous crowd at the fully, the finished quality of her work marked by fine comedy, admirable singing and an especially good make-up.

Josie Intropidi as the Judge Advocate appeared in one of the most effective roles that have fallen to her this summer and made one of the big hits of the evening. Blanche Deyo also scored as one of the Sultan's wives, her most notable success being achieved in the singing of "My Sulu Lulu Loo," and bright work was done by others of the company. The work of the chorus and orchestra was commendable throughout. It is to be doubted if this amusing musical comedy, the first hit achieved by George Ade as a librettist, has ever received a better presentation in St. Louis.

Helm's Orchestra at Cherokee.

Excellent concerts were given at Cherokee Garden yesterday afternoon and evening by Helm's Orchestra, and good crowds attended. The programs arranged for this week are attractive for variety and for the popular and high-class character of the compositions to be interpreted.

Gets in the Wrong House.

Steve Diptula, 27 years old, of 1308 North Ninth street, thought he was in his own residence when he wandered into the home of Joseph and Posa Orzel, 818 O'Fallon street, Monday morning. Mrs. Orzel awoke and screamed. Diptula escaped through a window. He was later arrested.

BECOMING A MOTHER
Is an ordeal which all women approach with indescribable fear, for nothing compares with the pain and horror of child-birth. The thought of the suffering and danger in store for her, robs the expectant mother of all pleasant anticipations of the coming event, and casts over her a shadow of gloom which cannot be shaken off. Thousands of women have found that the use of Mother's Friend during pregnancy robs confinement of all pain and danger, and insures safety to life of mother and child. This scientific liniment is a god-send to all women at the time of their most critical trial. Not only does Mother's Friend carry women safely through the perils of child-birth, but its use gently prepares the system for the coming event, prevents "morning sickness," and other discomforts of this period. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Book containing valuable information free.

NEGRESS LEADS IN SOCIAL LIFE AT UNIVERSITY

DECEIVED ALL CO-EDS

Discovery Made When Her Friends Call on Her at Her Home.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, July 22.—Sailing under false colors, so to speak, "Cissy" Johnson, sister of "Mushmouth" Johnson, the most notorious negro gambler in America, was a social leader in the University of Chicago for three years of successful deceit, so the co-eds now admit.

She scattered smiling glances to the admiring women students and dancing men of the midway school because her face was masked with a "peaches and cream" complexion. How she did it all will remain a mystery for future students to wonder at. Little information will be gained from her former club sisters, for Cissy's career among them is something of which they say little.

That Cecelia Johnson has fallen from a high estate is certain, however. Her sorority has been disbanded and her friends have faded away, for the university students know now of the struggle she made against her inheritance, aided by a fair face and social ambitions. Only her former chums knew her secret when the society, in which she had been a leader, was disrupted, and none of her social rivals suspected the cause of her disappearance from the campus frolics until today, when the subject was broached at a student gathering.

Had Many Rich Gems.

The negro gambler's ambition to make a "fine lady" of his little sister is really the cause of the discovery, for her friends got curious over her many jewels and luxurious clothes. Suspicion was aroused and investigations started. Then one of the sorority sisters who visited her home chanced upon a collection of photos of negroes and the unmasking followed. Miss Johnson was one of the popular graduates of Englewood High School in 1902. In her sophomore year at the university she was elected president of Englewood House, one of the girls' clubs there.

"Cissy" was the chief attraction at the Englewood Club informals. She also won great popularity with the professors for her class work and gained a scholarship for excellence in history and honorable mention for all her senior studies. She was one of the honor graduates when she took her bachelor degree last year and one of the most successful members of the graduate school.

Miss Johnson is a highly accomplished pianist and received a prize for instrumental proficiency from a Chicago musical school when she was graduated there last June.

She Is Found Out.

It was just before her graduation day that Miss Johnson's friends got suspicious because of their ignorance of her family. When they called at her home, where she lives with her mother, Mrs. Ellen Johnson, and her brother, "Mushmouth," they saw no one but "Cissy" and the servants and wondered at the rich furnishings of the house. It was declared that "something was wrong" and Englewood House held a meeting.

Three-fourths of the members withdrew and organized the Phi Delta Phi Sorority. Miss Johnson was not invited to join and several other co-eds stayed out with her. Englewood House existed, however, nominally until last month, when the faithful co-eds discovered, through the announcement of "Mushmouth's" home address in a newspaper, that "Cissy" was the negro gambler's sister.

"Cecelia was always a mystery, even when she was most popular," said one of the sorority girls today. "She is one of the most accomplished girls I know, a fine musician, and a fine character in every way. We cannot understand her deceit, for she seemed to be so truthful. Of course it was impossible to recognize her in the society after we had discovered whose sister she was. The Johnson home is magnificently furnished, and it is easy to see why the girl wished to be thought white."

PIASA ENTERTAINER WHOM BUG KISSED

MISS McDONNELL.

PIASA INVADED BY KISSING BUG

Miss Dollie McDonnell's Reading Interrupted by Public Demonstration of Insect.

Miss Dollie McDonnell of Detroit, the reader of the Rounds Ladies' Orchestra and Concert Company, appearing at Piasa Chautauqua, may be compelled to give her readings with her mouth shut unless a way can be found to keep the Piasa kissing bugs away from it.

Miss McDonnell's mouth is very pretty, especially when she reads, and the bugs that go buzzing about the open auditorium appear to be irresistably drawn to it.

One of them almost broke up her reading Sunday evening at the vesper service. Miss McDonnell was reciting very effectively Fred Emerson Brooks' "Palestine." Her voice lured a kissing bug from his lair in the timber outside and he steered straight for her mouth. She was so intent upon her work that she did not see him coming. The audience, listening raptly, were startled to see Miss McDonnell stop and turn pale and gasp. The impudent kissing bug was trying to kiss her before all the people. The reading had to be suspended long enough to drive him away.

The reading was given with violin and piano accompaniment by Miss Kate Coburn and Miss Marie Hovey and was very impressive, in spite of the efforts of the kissing bug to break it up.

TENTH WARDERS ARE ANGRY OVER THE TERMINAL LEASE

They Hold an Indignation Meeting and Criticise the Price Received.

The lease of the Market street wharf to the Terminal Railroad Association for five years was denounced by the Tenth Ward Improvement Association as part of a scheme of the Terminal Association to obtain a monopoly of all the approaches to St. Louis, at a meeting at Fountain Hall, Chippewa and Broadway, Sunday afternoon. The price for which the property was leased, $100,000, was also severely criticised.

Several members denounced Delegate Frank Simmons for the lack of interest they thought he had shown in the improvement association.

A resolution was passed asking the Board of Public Improvements to compel all property owners to cut the weeds on their lots.

PULLED FROM RIVER BY HAIR

Policeman and Watchman Saw Drowning Man.

Louis Krone, 35 years old, of 1466 East Warne avenue owes his life to the brave efforts of Policeman Laurence Meany of the Carr Street District and Private Watchman Ben Winter.

Krone was rescued from drowning in the Mississippi by the policeman and watchman who dragged him into a rowboat by his hair. Krone fell into the river from the wharfboat of the St. Louis Power Boat Association.

He was swept out of reach by the strong current, but the rescuers pursued. He had gone down twice when dragged into the boat.

RESIDENTS OF ALTON HILLS DEMAND FIRE PROTECTION

Contend Pumping Stations to Increase Water Pressure Are Needed.

In addition to fixing a schedule of rates to be charged consumers by the Alton Water Co., the Alton City Council will suggest that sub-pumping stations be erected in the vicinity of the city's two highest points, in Middletown and at the summit of State street. The present pumping facilities of the water company are insufficient to force the water to the top of the high hills and it has not enough pressure in case of fire.

Property owners say they are without fire protection on top of the bluffs and within the last five years scores of dwellings might have been saved with proper pumping facilities. A meeting of the commission to adjust the rates will be held Tuesday night and the 100 per cent increase in the rates announced by the new owners July 1 will be reduced after being compared with other cities.

BIG REPUBLICAN POW-WOW

Fully 20,000 Expected at Forest Park Roundup Aug. 24.

An attendance of 20,000 persons is expected at the home-coming of the Missouri Republicans, to be held at Forest Park Highlands, Aug. 24. Some of the most prominent speakers of the country will be on the program.

Among those already announced are Senator William Warner and Attorney-General Hadley. The Programme Committee, which is composed of Republicans from all parts of the State, is expected to announce other speakers in a short time.

CALLS ROOSEVELT UNFIT FOR FIGHT ON COMBINES

Kier Hardie, British Statesman and Labor Leader, Says President Is Involved on Capitalist Side of Politics.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, July 13.—J. Kier Hardie, M. P., the leader of the labor party in England, before sailing for Canada, gave to the Post-Dispatch correspondent the following statement of his views on President Roosevelt and the trusts:

"The campaign against the trusts which President Roosevelt has undertaken is a herculean task. Trust ramifications are so manifold, their methods so unscrupulous, and the means at their disposal and their corrupting power so great, that their overthrow would be something in the nature of a miracle.

"If, however, the President succeeds in enlisting public support, and if he means business and is not merely professing to break the trusts as a move in the great political game which will be played to a finish next year, then for a time he may succeed. But only for a time. Foiled in one direction, they will reappear in some other, and perhaps in a fresh guise. The modern trust is to our day what the great land barons were to the people of bygone ages. They are a menace to the liberties, social and political, of a people, and a curb upon progress. They have no thought beyond their own selfish interests.

"President Roosevelt will probably find, if he means business, that it is a waste of time and money to attempt to pare the claws of a tiger or extract the fang of a cobra, when the beast or reptile could more easily be killed. Why should not Roosevelt fight the trusts with a more powerful trust?

"Except in the case of railways, none of the trusts operate under Government sanction. The trouble with the trust is not that it is a monopoly, but that it is a monopoly privately owned and controlled in the interests of the monopolists. A monopoly owned and controlled by the Government ceases to be a menace and becomes a public institution for social service.

"As a beginning, let Roosevelt declare the manufacture of tobacco to be a Government monopoly, and at one stroke he destroys the power of the Tobacco Trust forever. Sugar refining, oil refining and the other monopolized industries could be dealt with in like fashion, and the fear of death thus implanted in the hearts of the monopolists in other trades would make them only too glad to loosen their grip on the life of the nation lest a similar fate overtake them. Such a policy would rally all the best forces of American citizenship to its support and have a revivifying and purifying influence on the entire sphere of American politics.

"Great causes inspire to great deeds. Is President Roosevelt fit for the task? I regret to say I do not think so. He has too much of an eye to the main chance, and is too much involved with the capitalist side of politics.

"His prejudging of Moyer and Haywood as being guilty before they were tried shows the bias of his mind, and the man who is biased against the leaders of the common people and who allows his judgment to be warped by the clamor of a foresworn press, is not the man who can be trusted to fight the trusts to a finish."

Convenient Banking
Among the things that make for convenient banking are:
Central Location.
Complete Equipment.
Prompt Service.
The National Bank of Commerce in St. Louis has every one of these advantages to offer to the business men of St. Louis.
It is located in the very heart of the business district. Practically every downtown car passes its doors. All the larger stores, banks, office buildings and hotels are within a few minutes' walk.
"Equipment" as applied to this bank means more than the mere mechanical features of commodious, well-lighted, well-ventilated banking offices, the most up-to-date labor-saving methods and appliances, etc. This bank has these, of course, and will be better equipped than ever in that respect upon the completion of its new building, but under the head of equipment may also be classed its very complete system of out-of-town correspondents, both domestic and foreign, and its facilities for the transfer of funds and the making of collections everywhere.
Prompt service follows as a matter of course on account of complete equipment and the large number of experienced, trustworthy and efficient department managers and assistants employed by this bank.
It will pay you to follow the example of thousands of successful St. Louisans and start banking relations at once with this institution which is so strong in resources, men and the ability to serve you.

"Quality" Fruit
Preserved in a Vacuum
That's the whole story of Clymer's Temtors. The finest flavored, juiciest fruit, the relishing kind that you would select for your own table—preserved with the purest granulated sugar, in our spotless modern kitchens, at the flavor-yielding moment.
We guard the flavor of the native fruit with our Vacuum Seal, which retains it for years as fresh as when we preserved it.

Our Vacuum Seal Jar
Our own device, means "air proof." It draws off the air from the top of the jar and keeps it off. Air causes fruit preserves to "work" or ferment. The Vacuum Seal absolutely prevents "working" and this does away with the need of preservatives. The Temtor success is due to the remarkable flavor—our own achievement.
Clymer's Cherry Temtors
Purer—than the law requires. The pure food law didn't bother Clymer's Temtors because they are above any requirements of the most drastic food law.
Try Temtors at Our Risk
Your grocer will give you back your money instantly—without a question—if for any reason you do not like Temtors. Try them on this liberal "taste test" plan.
If Cherry is not your favorite, try Clymer's Strawberry, Red Raspberry, Blackberry, Plum, or Peach Temtors.

THE TRANSFER RULE.

In the Sunday Post-Dispatch Former Gov. Lon B. Stephens told an interesting story on himself. It was of an experience with a conductor who refused to give him a transfer because he failed to ask for one as he paid his fare. Not having any more money, the Governor had to walk home on a hot day from the point where he ought to have been transferred to another car.

The Governor is indignant over this treatment. He protests against the arbitrary ruling of the United Railways Co., which forces every passenger who neglects to ask for a transfer at the right moment to pay another fare. He calls it an imposition and expresses the opinion that the Company has no right to adopt such a rule, which is in violation of the statute providing for the issue of transfers to all passengers who want them. The joke is on the Governor, whose repeated defense for signing the consolidation bill was that it assured the people of St. Louis transfers from one line to another of the consolidated system for one fare.

The experience of Ex-Gov. Stephens is not uncommon. Many persons, not only strangers, who do not know the rule, but citizens who are unmindful of it, or who discover after having paid their fares that they need transfers, are compelled to walk or pay another fare. Children with only one fare in their pockets are frequently placed in embarrassing and trying situations on account of it. The Company, on the other hand, profits by every failure of a passenger to get his transfer. Many thousands of nickels go into its coffers on account of the rule.

Capt. McCulloch, replying to the Governor's protest, said that the rule was adopted to protect the Company from passengers who might ask for transfers on transfers, but that the giving of a transfer at any time was largely discretionary with the conductors. It is true that the Company might occasionally have to carry a passenger on a second transfer. But is it right for this reason to deprive a passenger who is entitled to it of the right of transfer? Under the law the man who pays his fare has a right to get a transfer regardless of any arbitrary ruling of the company. The law says nothing about a rule of this kind. The law does not provide that the passenger who does not immediately ask for his transfer on paying his fare shall be deprived of a transfer. Has the Company the right to deprive passengers of this legal privilege in order to protect itself from an occasional imposition? Gov. Stephens thinks it has not. He thinks the right is clear and unlimited—a legal right which cannot be taken away from the passenger by any arbitrary ruling. The discretion which Capt. McCulloch says lies with the conductor may, and frequently does, result in discrimination. One passenger obtains a transfer by favor of the conductor, and another who is just as much entitled to it fails to get a transfer.

Justice should be done both to the company and the public. It is proper that the company adopt a rule which will protect it from imposition, but that rule should never take away the transfer from any passenger who has a right to it. No rule which is wholly in favor of the Company is a just rule.

Mr. Rockefeller insists upon being paid all his witness fees. And that is right. The poor man has been put to a good deal of expense in traveling to escape subpenas.

HOW ABOUT THE MOTHERS?

In connection with the photograph of a lady, just published, with a look of elevated determination on her face, we have her own explanation of what it is to mean in general. "I shall represent the Mothers of Missouri," she says.

This covers the ground in general. But what is it to mean in detail? According to the Constitution of Missouri and of the United States, as made by the Fathers, every man and woman in the State has reserved all the rights which it is not necessary to surrender to government for the sake of protecting each in the enjoyment of every right which belongs to all.

This represents "the Fathers." But what represents the Mothers? Are they satisfied with this? When Hood amends Shakspeare and tells us of "The eye like Ma's, to threaten and command," is it a prophecy of what maternal government is to mean when it is fully realized in Missouri?

Are the Mothers of Missouri willing to wait on the processes of growth, interfering as little as possible with those who are not interfering with others? Or are they coming up like an army with banners, to take possession of caliboose and the Jail, with a view to having both Jail and caliboose filled with those who do not immediately consent to the enforcement of maternal ideas?

The question is far beyond what the "new woman" is to mean in politics. It is the question now of whether there will be any woods left, when those who do not like maternal government as a system of control based on the maximum use of the caliboose, decide that their only chance to escape it is to take to the woods.

There will soon be 2000 automobiles scooting through St. Louis. There should be more business autos, giving us cleaner and quieter streets. It will be a happy day when the ice wagon passes away. The noise it makes in the early morning is enough to crack all its ice.

THE LAST STRAW.

The "last straw" is often slow in coming, but it comes at last. It may come, perhaps, when monopoly advances common sewing thread to 10 cents a spool. If it does not come then it will come finally.

The advantage of the spool of thread as an illustration of the meaning of establishing monopoly by tariff taxation is its simplicity and its comprehensiveness. Ten cents for a spool of monopoly cotton thread stands for about two and a half cents' cost, two and a half cents' fair profits and five cents tariff tax, levied on every family in the country by law, but collected by a trust, established under and protected by the monopoly tariff.

When this monopoly tariff closes the American market against competition it establishes all the trusts in the American market and gives them opportunity to collect for themselves the amount of the monopoly tax, which keeps out competing goods.

If they do not do this, then the monopoly tax at the frontier does them no good. It is absurd. It defeats its own intention, in that event. But in practice it works. In practice it is collected as a tax, not only on sewing thread but by scores of trusts on hundreds of other articles. The price of living is increased 25 per cent. Finally it is to be doubled on everything as on sewing thread.

While organized trusts and organized labor contend with each other, sometimes fiercely, in the division of the loot, while organized labor, after being threatened with police club and militia, gets nothing except what it can extort, the workers of the country who are not combining to take advantage are being oppressed and plundered—to make more plutocrats. Under these conditions those who establish the trusts in a monopoly of the American market fine a few of them occasionally as monopolists. The answer is then an increase in trust prices, which amounts to a fine of millions against the American people. And that is logic. But the results after the last straw will be also logic.

Federal courts may interfere with State laws regulating railway fare, but they cannot change public sentiment. The railroads cannot afford to go up against that.

PEACE ON THE BOUNDARY.

The announcement that an entente cordiale has been established between the authorities of St. Charles county and the fishermen of Alton is like cold cream upon our hot blushes for the new Missouri fish law.

It is reported from Alton that the Sheriff of St. Charles county will not assign deputies to an enforcement of the $15 license law on the sloughs and lakes across the river from Alton. This "complete understanding" has occasioned great joy at Alton, and if the Sheriff of St. Charles ever gets out of anything, he knows where he can get it. Boats which had been left to open their seams on the Alton levee are being caulked and repainted. Fishing tackle left to rust and must is being exposed to the oil can and the sun. The hard-boiled egg is returning to the lunch basket, the worm returneth to the tin can, and the snake-feeder resumes balancing itself upon the very tip-top of the upright cork.

The Alton fishermen all had the $15, but they gave up their favorite sport for a season as a matter of principle.

The Chautauqua spelling bee should be followed by spelling contests all over the country. Our spelling has come to be positively shocking. Strange to say, many of the bad spellers are school graduates.

THE NEWS FROM JAMESTOWN.

There was once a man in St. Louis, who believed in doing things as Circuit Attorney. He believed in getting results and letting results explain themselves.

The news from Jamestown is that his portrait has been hung there, and that while attracting attention as a work of art, it is attracting still greater attention as the portrait of a man who got results and let them explain what he stood for.

Unfortunately it is not a good portrait of Circuit Attorney Sager. No matter what light it is looked at in, it does not resemble him in the least. Still as a work of art, it is highly useful in suggesting how Circuit Attorney Sager may look when he takes "Do It Now" for his motto and begins making law as respectable in St. Louis as it can be made by any Circuit Attorney who relies on the enforcement of law to explain itself.

Circuit Attorney Sager says he has never seen a Coroner's jury of ordinary intelligence. "It is a duty that seems to be awarded to a lot of loafers." Surely we should give a dead man a chance.

The railroad conductor who has traveled 1,996,872 miles without being injured in any way may be set up as rebuttal of the accident statistics.

THE FARMER.

How would you like to be a farmer
About this time of year
Where the days are vastly warmer
Than we ever dream of here?
Where the wheat is stacked for threshing
And the modest farmhand asks
A plumber's wages nowadays
For those old-fashioned tasks?

How would you like to be a farmer
A-working in the field
Where man is by no shelter e'er
From summer sun concealed?
Where the hardy tiller of the soil
Is something more than browned,
And the hired hand asks modestly
Four-fifty per and found?

How would you like to be a farmer
In these hot times and braw,
When the help gets all the wheat will bring
And the farmer gets the straw?
When the farmer drives an old mule team
And humbly thanks his stars,
And the help comes out from town to thresh
In rented touring cars?

PEACE WITH THE COUNTY.

If we can land the Vanderbilt Cup Race for St. Louis County, it ought to become the means of bringing about an era of good-feeling between the county and the city. The enmities into which we have drifted are unworthy of regenerated Missouri.

The Cup Race would convince the farmers of the county that in the final analysis of his motive the autoist is only trying to destroy himself. It would also correct the suburban notion that all city automobiles upon the county roads are speeding. The farmer doesn't know what speeding it, and he won't know until he sees Lancia or some other real driver pass the house in contact with only an occasional elevation in the road.

All popular prejudice is kept alive by individuals. Out of the whole number of farmers in the county there are perhaps fifty or a hundred that keep the others red-hot on the automobile question. It would be a good idea to seek out these agitators and induce them to witness the race along a stretch of road which nature has lavishly provided with hurdles. About one neck-and-neck brush through that part of the world by Douray and Wagner would do away with the rural fancy that cars coming out from the city are recklessly driven.

There is nothing like the comparative point of view, and it is because the farmers of the county have never enjoyed it that they have never enjoyed the city automobile.

LAY SERMONS FOR WOMEN

Advice From a Post-Dispatch Expert, Written in Response to Readers' Inquiries, but Interesting to All Fair Ones.

By BETTY VINCENT.

SOMETHING ABOUT MISTAKES.

HAVE you made a mistake? Admit it. Have you made a mistake? Forget it. Mistakes are valuable teachers. They have two distinct uses. One is to be admitted and profited by; the other to disappear into the great hopper of forgetfulness, never to be referred to again.

There is no kind of person so surcharged with mistake-material as the infallible person. His system is full of it; for the possibility of making mistakes removes itself in exact proportion to our intelligent recognition of the mistakes we have made. To realize a mistake is never to make that same mistake again. Next time we will make another kind of blunder. Thus our learning process goes merrily or sadly on. A thimbleful of intelligent recognition is worth a whole hogshead of pigsheaded obstinacy.

Have you noticed how few mistakes some people make? How calm and patient they are about every detail of life? They are the wise people who have learned so much by their mistakes that they are practically mistake-immune.

To admit and forget is the rule for mistakes;
Deliver us all from infallible fakes!

A COOL, SWEET MIND.

WE spend a great deal of time these summer days keeping our houses and bodies clean and cool. There is something of far more importance than cool, clean houses and persons. It is a cool, sweet, well-regulated mind.

Do you know how to cool your mind when your body is far from cool? It is easy. Stop thinking of unnecessary things and think only of necessary things. What are unnecessary thoughts? All thoughts of the past and most thoughts of the future. Eliminate all regretful, anxious and worried thought.

What are necessary thoughts? Necessary thoughts are thoughts concerning the now, and here, with barely sufficient planning ahead to avoid another style of heating the brain, caused by the confusion of vague plans.

Be definite. Be economical of thought as you are of money. Think definitely while you work and stop thinking while you rest.

Soon your overworked, overheated, disorderly mind will be transformed into a cool, well-ordered mind; a mind that will meet all demands put upon it, a successful mind; a sanitary mind; a cool, sweet mind.

HOW MARBLES ARE MADE

MOST of the stone marbles used by boys are made in Germany. The refuse only of the marble and agate quarries is employed, and this is treated in such a way that there is practically no waste.

Men and boys are employed to break the refuse stone into small cubes, and with their hammers they acquire a remarkable dexterity. The little cubes are then thrown into a mill consisting of a grooved bedstone and a revolving runner, says the Philadelphia Record. Water is fed to the mill and the runner is rapidly revolved, while the friction does the rest.

In half an hour the mill is stopped and a bushel or so of perfectly rounded marbles are taken out. The whole process costs the merest trifle.

STEEL PAVEMENTS FOR PARIS

PARIS is experimenting with what is called steel pavement. It is really a concrete pavement reinforced with a steel framework. The metal part of the pavement is a plate of perforated steel, with strong bolts of steel running through it between the perforation. Each section has some resemblance to a steel harrow, only the prongs project equally on each side, and they are square and blunt. It will be superior to asphalt in ultimate economy and to wood both in the better footing that it affords to horses and in the fact that it will not admit of dangerous ruts developing. The sample laid cost $5.40 a square meter (a little more than a square yard), but when the work is done on a large scale it is believed the price can be cut to about $4.50.

A Spiritual Suggestion for Today

I BELIEVE the first test of a truly great man is his humility. I do not mean, by humility, doubt of his own power, or hesitation in speaking his opinion. But really great men have a curious under-sense of powerlessness, feeling that the greatness is not in them but through them; that they could not do or be anything else than God made them. And they see something divine and God-made in every other man, and are endlessly, foolishly, incredibly merciful.—John Ruskin.

?.—By custom druggists invariably retain the prescriptions placed in their hands to be filled, for their own protection and the convenience of the customer who may wish more than one filling of his prescription, but the law as taught in many schools of pharmacy is that the prescription is the property of the person presenting it, and he can demand its return by the druggist. The druggist retains a copy, if he gives up the original, but more frequently supplies the person requesting the prescription with a copy and retains the original. In some States the druggist is required by law to retain the original.
G.—Your problem, "Where must a pole 60 feet high break so that the top will rest on the ground 20 feet from the stump?" is solved by the rule that the square of the hypotenuse of a right-angled triangle is equal to the sum of the squares of the other two sides. The distance on the ground, 20 feet, is one of the other two sides; the part of the pole left upright is the second, and is the distance to be determined, hence may be called x. The hypotenuse is 60 feet minus x. This makes the equation "x square plus the square of 20, or 400, equal the square of the difference between 60 and x." By algebra, x, or the distance from the ground, is found to be 26 1-3 feet. You will find that this is correct by adding 400 to the square of 26 1-3. The sum is 1111 1-9. Square 33 1-3, the hypotenuse, and you will find that it is also 1111 1-9.
M. M.—Any officer, soldier, seaman or marine who served for not less than 90 days in the army or navy during the Civil War, and who was honorably discharged and has remained loyal to the Government, and who makes a homestead entry of 160 acres or less on any land subject to such entry, is entitled to have the term of his service in the army or navy, not exceeding four years, deducted from the period of five years' residence required under the homestead laws. If he were discharged from service on account of wounds or disabilities incurred in the line of duty the whole term of enlistment, not exceeding four years, is deducted from the homestead period of five years, but no patent can issue to any homestead settler who has not resided upon, improved and cultivated his homestead for a period of at least one year after he began his improvements. Similar provisions are made for the benefit of like persons who served in the war with Spain or during the suppression of the insurrection in the Philippines.

The Dangerous Canoe.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

While C. R. Benham undoubtedly displayed courage in attempting to rescue Miss Ruth Ledwidge from the Meramec River Sunday, it seems to me he would have been wise had he refused to take the young woman out in a canoe, knowing she could not swim. A canoe is a dangerous craft at best, and no man who uses ordinary common sense will undertake to use it as a pleasure boat in which to take his girl friends riding. Personally, I have a canoe, and have traveled thousands of miles in a birch bark, have shot ducks and deer from one, and have fished from it. I also have run the rapids of the big streams of the North in one, and have never had an accident. In spite of all this I would just as soon point a rifle at a friend and pull the trigger as to allow a person unfamiliar with a canoe to enter one with me. A little less gallantry and a little more common sense, where canoes are concerned, would cut down the death list on the Meramec River.

The Business Basis.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Your editorial, "The Business Basis," points in the right direction as to the proper attitude of the municipality toward business interests in our city. It may seem (to the uninformed) entirely fair to tax all business uniformly on the volume of their sales, but this view cannot take into consideration the fact that all classes of merchandise do not pay the same profit or that large sales are frequently attained only by cut prices and diminished profits. The business houses showing largest sales will invariably be found to be those who reach out furthest for trade in territories remote from our city, and to do so must be at greater expense and entail keen competition from other markets, which necessarily means a less per cent of gross profits and a much smaller rate of net profits than is attained by houses doing a merely local business. There are lines of business in which the net profit on sales is less than $10 per thousand, in which cases it certainly appears that the city has gone to the extreme in exercising its right of taxation by demanding one-tenth of the total as its share.

How long would the general public or the real estate owners tolerate a tax equal to one-tenth of their incomes?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Your editorial, "Up to the Printers," is all right. Mr. Behymer's record as the champion speller in the free-for-all Chautauqua standing-up contest did not surprise the printers, though it may have been unexpected by his fellow members of the Post-Dispatch editorial staff.

But, when you claim the whole credit for the editorial staff, you overlook the fact that Mr. Behymer is a graduate of the Post-Dispatch proof-room, and that long association with the printer is responsible for his ability to outspell all others.

The Sale of Cocaine.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Some time ago some one connected with the Police Department attributed 75 per cent of the crime in the neighborhood of Eighth and Twelfth streets and Franklin avenue due to the use of cocaine. Since that time a law has been passed, but except in two or three isolated cases there has been no attention paid to it. The sale is carried on with the knowledge of the officer on the beat and any one else who is acquainted. One or two little one-horse places were pulled for a bluff, but not one of those downtown drug stores have been interfered with, nor has the Law Enforcement League taken notice of them. Evidently it don't pay to meddle. Some stop should be made of this traffic, and why so much is made of selling a glass of beer on Sunday when this poison is being sold every day in the week and breaking the law every sale is what puzzles one.

HE WILL PLEAD TWO DAYS FOR HAYWOOD'S LIFE

Attorney Richardson Begins Long Argument for Accused Miner.

ORCHARD IS ASSAILED

Defendant's Lawyer Goes Directly Into Steunenberg Murder.

BOISE, Idaho, July 22.—The excellent character and consistent philanthropy of the Western Federation of Miners; the patient suffering of labor under the lash of capital and the alleged perjury and perfidy of Harry Orchard were the main points in the opening argument in the defense of William D. Haywood presented this morning by E. F. Richardson.

In spite of the sweltering atmosphere, every seat in the courtroom was occupied long before the opening of the session. Haywood's mother sat beside the prisoner, the invalid wife, daughter and sister and step-father composed the family group, and seven of the battery of Haywood's counsel were in their places.

Judge Wood announced during the argument that he will hold two sessions a day, one in the morning and the other from 6 to 8:30 p. m.

Mr. Richardson has subdivided his argument under 11 heads, which he enumerated to the jury this morning. It is probable that the opening argument will take two days.

Mr. Richardson plunged directly into the death of Gov. Stuenenberg in his opening sentence. He declared it was Gov. Stinenenberg's fortune during his administration to stand in the forefront of a labor war in the Coeur d'Alenes. Perhaps, he said, the situation demanded all that the Governor did. Perhaps it did not.

"I want to say to you gentlemen that we of the defense do not believe there is any justification for such an act. We shall not attempt to justify it; we do not believe it can be justified from any point of view."

Illinois Fugitive Killed in Explosion.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 22.—Through a scrap of paper found pinned to his underwear the unknown man killed in the explosion of a Union Pacific engine at Latham Station Friday has been identified as Nathan Thompson, a fugitive from Galesburg, Ill. Thompson was stealing a ride when he met death. He was formerly a prominent resident of Galesburg. After fleeing from justice he traveled under the alias of E. C. Brown. The body will probably be disinterred and shipped to Illinois.

A still alarm was turned in. The blaze was put out by a small extinguisher. The fire was caused by the dropping of a lighted cigar from a window.

Burglars Find Hidden Money.

Burglars broke a rear window in the grocery of John White, 2201 Division street, Saturday night and discovered his hiding place for money—a Japanse box—from which they took $330 and an insurance policy for $5000.

WILL STUFF "TOOTSIE," THE FOX TERRIER MESSENGER

Carrying Notes at Union Station, Waiting for Friends at Different Gates but a Few of His Accomplishments.

Because many passengers have inquired for Tootsie, the pet dog of Union Station, which died several weeks ago, its former owner, W. E. Berryman, proprietor of the drug store at the station, is having the body of the little fox terrier stuffed. The dog will be placed in a glass case near the entrance of the drug store facing on the Midway.

Tootsie was not only the favorite and friend of all the attaches of Union Station, but the delight of many persons who pass regularly in and out of the station. Besides being able to perform ordinary tricks he would carry messages to and from different parts of the station and also made it a point of standing by the different gates, waiting for friends coming in on different trains.

Soon Made Friends.

He learned to distinguish the men in uniform as his friends. Then he enlarged his acquaintance list to other men who spoke to these in uniform frequently and who were continually going in and out of the gates.

After awhile he ventured through the gates himself and found out that the great trains that came rolling into the station were quite harmless if you kept on the platform. He didn't go out in the yards, and Mack probably told him that the yards were his domain.

Berryman taught him tricks to amuse his customers. But Tootsie was ambitious and after he had learned to carry notes and bills around the drug store he one day rushed down the Midway with a yellow telegraph blank in his mouth which he brought to the station master.

Carried Around Notes.

After this notes were given him to persons in different parts of the station. Friends would point out where they wanted him to go. If he didn't quite understand he would run up to one of the Union Station officials or policemen and by barking indicate that he wanted them to read the name on the note and point out the way for him.

A month ago he began to grow thin and grew rapidly ill. Berryman says he thinks that the candy and sweets given him frequently were the cause of this.

8 INJURED IN TROLLEY WRECK

Passengers Say Motorman's Head Was Turned at Time of Accident.

Officials of the United Railways Co. are trying to fix the blame for the collision between a work car and a passenger car on the Creve Coeur division, five miles from St. Louis, Sunday afternoon, in which eight persons were injured and twenty were badly shaken up.

According to several passengers, the motorman of the passenger car, Walter M. Montague of 3412 Locust street, was largely to blame. They say his head was turned aside at the time his car rounded the curve where the accident took place, and that he was talking to some young men on the front seat. When he saw the work car, which was standing on the track repairing the wires, he applied the brakes, but was unable to avoid the collision. Then he jumped and escaped uninjured. Several others escaped by jumping.

The passenger car, which was returning from Creve Coeur Lake, was crowded with pleasure seekers, who were thrown in a struggling heap. Those in the front seats were the most seriously injured. Most of the injuries consist of cuts and bruises received from broken glass and debris.

The most seriously injured was Miss Grace O'Connell, 18 years old, of 3657 Humphrey street. Her back and shoulders were severely sprained.

WIFE OF PASTOR FOUND IN LODGING HOUSE WITH JAP

Mrs. Harry C. Robinson Is Arrested With Her Former Servant at Seattle.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 22.—With her former Japanese servant, Mrs. Harry C. Robinson, wife of Rev. Harry C. Robinson, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church of West Seattle, was arrested in a Tenderloin lodging house. She is aged 30 and he 20.

The couple were charged with disorderly conduct. The Japanese gave his name as Y. Steamota. At first the woman said her name was Mabel S. Parris, but the police learned she was a woman of consequence.

After remaining in Jail for five hours she telephoned her husband and was allowed to leave in his company.

Attention was attracted to the couple several days ago, when the police noticed a white woman with a Japanese on several occasions. Last night they were seen to go to the room of the Japanese in the lodging house.

When arrested Mrs. Robinson had a volume of Whittier's poems and a pocket edition of "Venus and Adonis."

"Let them say what they please," she told the Chief of Police. Rev. Mr. Robinson explained that his wife had been troubled with heart disease for years and attributed her actions to that. She has been a leader on church work.

BROWNRIGG WAS WITH HAUGHTON

Attorney Admits Asking James Berry to Go Into Alley Where He Was Shot.

Attorney Richard T. Brownrigg of the law firm of Brownrigg, O'Brien & Mason, with offices in the Missouri Trust Building, was arrested Monday by Detective Darby O'Brien as the mysterious witness to the shooting of James Berry, an automobile man, by former Justice of the Peace Richard B. Haughton three weeks ago.

Brownrigg admitted that he was the man who visited Berry and made arrangements for the meeting with Haughton in an alley between Delmar and Washington boulevards, near Vandeventer avenue.

Detective O'Brien conducted Brownrigg to Circuit Attorney Sager's office for an interview. The detective was startled when Sager remarked:

"I knew all the time that Brownrigg was with Haughton when he shot Berry. He came in the next day and told me."

For three weeks the Detective Department has been trying to ferret out the mystery, and there was much chagrin in the department when it became known that the Circuit Attorney was in possession of the information they had been trying so hard to get.

Denies Knowing Haughton's Purpose.

Brownrigg said that he did not know what purpose Haughton had in mind when he sent him as an emissary to see Berry and make arrangements for him to visit the alley, ostensibly to look at an automobile that needed repairs. Sager said that he wanted to use Brownrigg as a witness, and he was released on $1000 bond.

Berry, who has recovered from his injuries, after the City Hospital physicians thought he was going to die and an undertaker had come in from the country to get his body, went with Detective O'Brien to Brownrigg's office Monday and identified the lawyer. They were accompanied also by Fred Bachofner, coachman for Dr. Sutter, who witnessed the shooting from a stable in the rear of 3617 Delmar boulevard.

Sager told a Post-Dispatch reporter that Brownrigg informed him that he was the witness to the shooting.

"I made no effort to conceal my identity," said Brownrigg to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "When I heard the next day that detectives were looking for me I went to Sager's office and made a statement to him. Sager was busy with the Williams trial, and says he forgot to mention it to the detectives.

"I am an intimate friend of Haughton, and did not know he had a pistol when I arranged the meeting. I was trying to serve as peacemaker between the men. Haughton and I were walking north on Spring avenue, and I stopped and telephoned to Berry. He came up in a few minutes and we stepped into the alley. Then Haughton came, and he and Berry had some words.

"I thought they were preparing to draw their weapons, and I told them there was no necessity for that. After some further argument, and Berry's refusal to sign the apology, Haughton struck Berry over the head with a whip. The fight followed and the shots were fired. I did not want to be mixed up in a shooting affair, and got away."

Grandmother Gets Married.

To escap a charivari, Anton ton Brier, 45 years old, and Mrs. Sophia Kempf, 45 years old, of Sappington, Mo., eloped to East St. Louis, where they were married Monday morning by Justice Driscoll. Mrs. Brier's husband was formerly a working man on her farm, but he wooed and won. Mrs. Brier's daughter, Mrs. Mary Breville, and husband of Kirkwood were witnesses. Mrs. Brier's granddaughter was also a witness. The grandchild is 2 years old.

HIGHWAYMEN SEIZE GIRLS AND ESCORTS

One Young Man Robbed of Watch Is Attacked Second Time.

Two highwaymen took a gold watch and 15 cents from C. E. Rawley at Eighth street and Illinois avenue, East St. Louis, at 11 p. m. Sunday, as he was escorting Miss Evelyn FitzGibbons to her home, 813 St. Louis avenue.

The men jumped from an alley adjoining a grocery store as the young couple passed on their way to Miss FitzGibbons' home and seized Miss FitzGibbons as well as her escort.

Rawley spent a few hours at the FitzGibbon home but, on returning past the same alley at 1 a. m., he was again attacked by the same two men. They brandished the same pearl-handled knife with which they threatened to cut him if he resisted the first attack, but this time he ran away from them. One highwayman wore a white hat.

During the night Henry Hughes and J. W. Barry were picked up by detectives on suspicion. Hughes wore a white hat. They were released Monday morning before Rawley described them. Soon as he mentioned the white hat, detectives remembered Hughes. They took Rawley to Hughes' home, 818 Missouri avenue. Barry was also there and Rawley identified them as the two men who had robbed him.

Thomas Woods, another East St. Louisan, was attacked by a highwayman while escorting a young woman home. She is Miss Elsie Schultz of 1302 St. Louis avenue. The highwaymen attempted to stop Woods at Tenth street and St. Louis avenue, only a few blocks from where Rawley was robbed. The highwayman had a revolver, but Woods showed fight, neighbors stuck their heads out of the windows and the highway man ran.

FOUGHT WITH BURGLAR IN DARK BASEMENT OF STORE

Crook Was Getting Worst of Encounter When Be Broke Loose and Escaped.

Rashud Lahood, manager of Kalil Wasaff's dry goods store at 916 South Fourth street, came near catching a burglar Sunday night. He went to the store to turn on the lights. As he entered the front door he discovered a prowler selecting stock from one of the counters.

Rashud and the burglar started for each other at the same time, but suddenly the burglar changed his course and made for the cellar. Rashud pursued. In the dark cellar the two fought. Rashud was getting the better of the encounter when the burglar suddenly loosened himself from Rashud's grasp and disappeared through a back door which Rashud believed was securely bolted.

That is why Rashud, in his report to the police, stated his belief that the burglar was either a magician or armed with skeleton keys. Nothing was taken from the store.

Test Your Baby's Food

SANIPURE MILK
A Natural Food

acts like mother's milk—breaks up into small, easily digested flakes when pepsin is added—same way it does when it gets into baby's delicate stomach. Plain cow's milk curdles into an indigestible chunk.

Most infant foods contain too much sugar and too little fat and protein. Sanipure Milk has all the nourishment baby needs, in right proportions. You can regulate the quantity—our valuable book, "Baby's First Days," tells how.

The formula is on every can. Buy from Druggist or Grocer.

RESPITE LIKELY FOR BARRINGTON, SAYS MR. MOSBY

Pardon Attorney Wants Time to Investigate New Evidence Presented.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 22.—Wilfred Jones, attorney for "Lord" Seymour Barrington, arrived this afternoon and filed a formal application for a commutation of the death sentence. Heretofore he has only filed petitions and letters asking for executive clemency.

Jones has written Pardon Attorney Mosby that this application will be supported by facts and affidavits bearing out the application for a life imprisonment.

Pardon Attorney Mosby said that in view of these facts it is likely that a respite to a certain day would be granted that he might look into these facts and also investigate the London police record of Barrington.

Unless Gov. Folk interferes, "Lord" Barrington will be executed at the Clayton Jail Thursday for the murder of his benefactor, James P. McCann.

Sheriff Herpel refused Sunday to admit Mrs. Lillian Gates of 4130 West Belle place to the Prison to see Barrington. Mrs. Gates has been taking an interest in the case, and Barrington asked to see her. The Sheriff says that several friends of Barrington will not be admitted to his presence again.

THIRTY-ONE KNOWN TO HAVE PERISHED IN COLLISION

Over Score of Funerals of Victims to Be Held at Ionia, Michigan.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

DETROIT, Mich., July 22.—The death list as a result of the collision near Salem between an excursion train and a freight on the Pere Marquette Railroad now reaches 31. Among the 100 or more injured in this city and Ionia, eight are reported to be in serious condition. There are 61 injured people at heir homes in Ionia and 42 were brought to the hospital in this city.

Twenty-four of the dead whose homes were in Ionia, will be buried in that city, and 18 of the funerals will take place today. The relief committee has asked that all business be suspended in the city from 9 o'clock until 4 in the afternoon, both today and Tuesday.

Another Fatal Wreck.

SEBEWAING, Mich., July 22.—In the second wreck on the Pere Marquette in 24 hours two trainmen were killed near here. The engine, drawing an extra freight train on the Saginaw, Tuscola and Huron division, with its tender and one car was ditched by running through an open interlocking derailing device and Albert J. Kelly, conductor, and John O'Leary, engineer, both residents of Saginaw, were buried under the oal from the overturned tender and suffocated.

SPEAKING TO STRANGE MEN.

Caleb Is Shocked by an Incident Retold for the Post-Dispatch

BY MISS LENA.

I WAS telling Caleb about a conversation I had wtih a young man who sat beside me upon the street car.

"What was his name?" asked Caleb, in a tone of voice that was just suspiciously cool.

"I am sure I don't know," I answered laughing.

"By whom were you introduced, Lena?" was his next question.

"Why, Caleb, I told you how we happened to be in conversation together. We were not introduced at all. He was an utter stranger. I had never seen him before, and have not seen him since."

There is nothing on earth so amusing to me as Caleb's manner when he thinks it is incumbent upon him to assume a paternal air and rebuke me. This time he arose from beside me, stood before me in the firmest attitude, thrust his hands deeply into his pockets, and with a look of resignation, asked:

"Lena, is it possible that you engaged in conversation with a stranger who simply dropped into the empty seat beside you on a street car?"

"Not quite that bad, Caleb. There was an excuse for its beginning. The sun was shining fiercely into the window; I tried to pull down the blind and it stuck so I could not move it. He pulled it down for me. I thanked him, he smiled and said something about the weather. He was such a gentleman and said it so pleasantly that I simply had to reply, and before we knew it we were chatting as if we had known each other for years."

"Lena, he was not a gentleman." Caleb was looking rather fiercely when he said that.

"Not a gentleman? Don't you think I know a gentleman when I see one and hear him talk?"

"A gentleman, never, never forces his attentions upon a woman, Lena. That fellow would not have spoken to you at all of he had been a gentleman. He used the little act of courtesy as a pretext to scrape acquaintance with you. But I am surprised at you, Lena, surprised and shocked. Why, that was simply terrible."

I laughed good and long and Caleb, visibly vexed, began to walk the floor. I let him stew awhile and then I halted him.

"Caleb," I said, "you know all about your business, and about baseball and some other things. But you know absolutely nothing at all about women. Very few men do. One thing you don't know about women is that they know, with positive accuracy just what a man means and has in his mind when he approaches them. A man may think that his real design is hauden under a cloak of "soft sawder," and that he is fooling her, but he never does. She knows intuitively what he means, and that intuition is the sure safeguard of every woman who wishes to be good. That's why some women have humbled you upon certain occasions, Caleb. They knew what was in your mind.

"Now I agree with you that it is not ever safe for an addle-pated girl to talk with strangers she meets because there is many a wolf in sheep's clothing and her weak mind is likely to be hypnotized by the arts of a man who is stronger-willed than she. But for a strong-minded, sane, well-poised American girl to be afraid of a gentleman she happens to meet in public is folly. I know where to draw the line. This was a well-bred young man of good habits. I saw that in his face and manner. And his little talk with me did not lower me in his estimation I'll venture to say, and it certainly did not hurt me.

"The idea that a woman who is alone must not speak to a strange man or allow one to speak to her is preposterous."

"Well, you keep it up and you'll be insulted so hard some day that the shock will vibrate the whole neighborhood," said Caleb.

"I've never been insulted yet," I answered. "Of course, Caleb, I am not inviting attentions from strange men, and not very often do I receive them, but when a man assists me in closing a window I think I have a right to thank him. What occurs after that depends upon the sort of man he happens to be."

"Or what you think he happens to be."

"Oh, well, Caleb, when did you ever know a gentleman to insult a woman in public? Did you ever know such a case? I never did. Of course, a woman is apt to be insulted, just as she is apt to be barked at by a mad cur. There are stray dogs upon the streets, and a few human brutes are at large, too. But every right-minded woman knows them at sight and shuns them. As I said before, I was never insulted in public in my life."

"That's because anyone could tell by just looking at you that you were good," said Caleb, meekly.

"Now, just for that remark you may come into the kitchen and watch me make biscuits for tea," I said, and Caleb followed me in. He often says he would rather watch me when I am cooking than to see the best ball game ever played. I wonder why that is.

HAS SEVEN BOYS ARRESTED FOR ATTACKING HER AT HOME

Woman Has Them Arrested After They Escape From House.

Seven young men, locked up and accused of a felony committed Sunday morning, attribute their downfall to a boys' club of which they were members.

Mrs. Dora Meyers alleges that while she was in bed they tore open her screen door and attacked her.

The police arrested Harry Wack, 18 years old, 2134 South Second street; Philip Martin, 18 years old, 1849 South Eleventh street; Richard Hietler, 19 years old, 2347 South Tenth street; Henry Tegmeyer, 19 years old, 2333 South Tenth street; Edward Griemel, 18 years old, 2202 Menard; Edward Martz, 20 years old, 2347 South Tenth street; Joseph Duch, 18 years old, 915 Ann street.

TWO STORE MEN CHARGED WITH MAKING HANDBOOKS

Prisoners Arrested on Market Street Deny Guilt and Are Released on Bond.

Detectives McMullen and Wells were sent out Monday with instructions to arrest makers of handbooks in St. Louis saloons and cigar stores, where bets on horseracing are taken.

At noon two cigar dealers had been arrested and sent to the Four Courts. They were John F. Wagner of 1614 Market street and Michael Corrigan of 2125 Market street.

The detectives called patrol wagons and ordered that the prisoners be charged with conducting handbooks, but did not report as to what evidence they had gathered. The men deny their guilt. Both gave bond.

A little later A. Wesley Mortimer, proprietor of a poolroom at 825 Locust street, was arrested. Detective Wells said he offered Mortimer a $1 bet on Nealon in the fourth race at Brighton Beach and that it was accepted.

Wells and McMullen continued their search for handbooks in downtown shops and saloons.

BIG ROCK DROPS INTO KITCHEN

Falls Through Roof From Blast; Woman Has Narrow Escape.

Mrs. Lucinda Krebs was frightened almost into hysterics at 11 o'clock Monday morning when a large stone, weighing probably 300 pounds, crashed through the roof of the kitchen of her home, 2118 Penrose street, broke a chair two feet from her and tumbled into a washtub in front of her.

The kitchen was wrecked, a large part of the roof being damaged and the ceiling ruined.

The flight of the stone began in the quarry of the Bambrick- Bates Construction Co. at Penrose street and Florissant avenue. It followed a blast by employes of the quarry company to loosen a section of rock.

Aloysius Krebs, husband of Mrs. Krebs, is an officer of the Tower Grove Foundry Co., on Hunt, near Taylor avenue.

"We applied for an injunction a year ago last May," he told a Post-Dispatch reporter, "but we have not received a decision yet. I am going to see if I can't have the employes of the quarry arrested for endangering my wife's life that way."

FOUGHT FOR STREET CAR SEATS

Complainant Says Effort Was Was Made to Oust Family.

Joseph J. Meagher of 2132 Wash street was arrested in Delmar Garden Sunday night by a Dputy Sheriff of St. Louis County upon complaint of John Slough, who alleged disturbance of his peace. He declared that while at Creve Coeur Lake Sunday, Meagher tried to put him and his three children out of their seats on a street car.

The case will be heard Friday before Justice Campbell in Clayton.

STOLE PRETTY "HELLO" GIRL AND TRIED TO SELL HER

Quarrel on Street in Chicago Clears Mystery of Missing Telephone Operator.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, July 22.—Myrtle Burns, a pretty 17-year-old telephone operator who disappeared from her home, 519 South Forty-eighth avenue a week ago, was rescued from Joseph McAuliffe, alias "Harry Love," who was arrested by th police last night.

When the disappearance of the pretty operator was reported to the police it caused a stir, foul play being suspected. A number of wealthy Chicago women interested themselves in the case and last night Sergeant Brouder and Detective Patrick obtained a clew that led to the arrest.

It is charged that McAuliffe was negotiating for the sale of the young woman to a resort keeper in the South Side "Levee" when he was captured, and that part of the time she had been held a prisoner.

Shortly before McAuliffe, accompanied by the girl, had left the Savoy Hotel, State and Congress streets, they engaged in a quarrel in front of the place. Enraged when an aged man passed within hearing of the quarrel, McAuliffe hurried after him and knocked him down.

The attack was seen by Sergeant Brouder and the detective, who arrested McAuliffe. For a time the girl denied her identity and asserted she was 19 years old, but finally broke down and confessed she had run away from home.

Until a week ago she was employed as an operator at the main telephone exchange. For more than a week every policeman in the city was looking for her.

TWENTY FALL IN RIVER, MANY LOST

Bridge Railing Collapses and Score of Men Tumble Into Water.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

LORAIN, O., July 22.—A score of men were precipitated into the river here today and several were drowned, a bridge railing crushing beneath their weight. Two bodies have been taken from the water. Another is known positively to be in the water, and several men are missing. It is probable that they are lost.

The men were employed in the shipyards. They used a foot bridge near the Nickel Plate Railroad bridge to cross the river to their work.

This morning the pontoon of the bridge was open to permit a vessel to pass. The men were leaning against a railing, waiting for the bridge to be closed, and the railing broke. About twenty men went into the river.

COL. TODHUNTER STARTSFISHING

Written Especially for the Post-Dispatch

By RIPLEY D. SAUNDERS.

"WELL, suh," said Col. Thurs. T. Todhunter radiantly, "this old world will just have to wag along the best way it can without any assistance from me for the next few days, suh, because I'm goin' a-fishin'. You couldn't stop me with a team o' hosses, suh.

"No, suh, when Col. Thurs. T. Todhunter gets his head set on a fishin' frolic, I'll just be dadblamed if any mortal power is equal to the task of preventin' him f'um reachin' his heart's desire, suh—and fishin's in my blood right now, suh, bigger'n a mule. I'm headed for surcease f'um toil, as the poet says, suh. I've arranged for a little vacation to that end and I propose to devote that vacation to communin' with nature and other things along Black River in the soothin' shadow of the Ozarks, suh. If any man sees Col. Thurs. T. Todhunter goin' a lick o' work more arduous than baitin' his hook or tiltin' a demijohn on his elbow so his lips can get at it without givin' him a crick in the neck—well, I'll just be dadfrazzled if he won't have to hustle to call me more sorts of a Tom Fool jackass in a given time than I'll call myself, suh!

"And I tell you, suh, I'd like for some o' these here tired and money-mastered multimillionaires to take a look at me when I go fishin'—I'd show 'em a happier man than was ever made by pilin' up dollars just to see the pile grow, suh. Just give me one or two congenial Democrats for company, suh, an old-fashioned fishin' pole and a few extra hooks stuck into a cork in my pocket, a can o' bait and a demijohn o' Bourbon, with more where that came f'm, suh, with the fish bitin' just lively enough to make it interestin' without too much exertion—and lo and behold, suh, there's a man who don't care whether school keeps or not, suh! Sweet song rests upon my lips, suh—thanksgivin' hallelujahs come f'um my heart—my old Kentucky blood runs young in my veins, suh—me and Nature gets as thick as two in a bed—the earth and the sky and the waters under the earth and all things created by the Good Marster become beautiful in my sight, suh—and I'll be shot full o' holes if Col. Todhunter, for the time bein', ain't as contented as Adam before the Fall—the sort o' man our Maker intended us all to be, suh, if Eve hadn't let old Satan gold-brick her with that dadblamed Garden of Eden sour apple, suh!

"Yes, suh, I'm goin' a-fishin'—and they ain't no team of oxen can pull against me on that joyous resolution. Here's lookin' at you, suh, and happy days—I'm just about to have 'em, suh!"

PELTY NOT EMERGENCY PITCHER BY ANY MEANS

Splendid Twirler for a Whole Game Falls Down When Asked to Go in for a few Extra Innings.

WHETHER it was a necessity or by choice, the selection of Pelty to replace Howell in yesterday's game, which was lost by a score of 7 to 2, after Spencer had batted for Harry in the ninth inning, should demonstrate to every one that Pelty cannot pitch his best ball without receiving a thorough workout.

Three times in the last two weeks has Barney been forced to relieve Howell when the score was a tie, and as many times has the visiting team pounded him all over the lot and won the game with ease. Not only that, but Pelty receives the debit for the loss of games in which he has worked only one inning.

This, of course, should not materially change Pelty's willingness to pitch whenever he is called upon to do so, but it is the custom to judge a pitcher's value by the number of games he has won for his team. Pelty is a great pitcher and had a splendid year with a losing team last year, but he needs to loosen up his arm before he can be expected to pitch perfect ball, as he was forced to try to do in yesterday's pinch. It was his wildness in passing two men that started the trouble, and as he could not find the plate with curve balls, it was only natural that when he put the ball over the plate that the Highlanders should hit it hard and into safe territory.

Pelty pitched a whole game against the Highlanders Friday and only allowed two runs to be scored the entire game. Yesterday they scored five runs in one inning, the score being 2-2 when he began pitching.

THE remarkable number of extra-inning games of unusual length reported in the middle West during the current month has raised, in the minds of a portion of the baseball public, suspicion as to the genuineness of some of these performances. In a few isolated cases these suspicions may be well grounded. There is a certain amount of prominence given games of unusual length, and considerable discussion created. Consequently there is some temptation for those connected with teams of small caliber to attract attention to themselves by this method. But it is not possible to do this falsely without the connivance of so many persons the truth is bound to leak out eventually. This is just what happened concerning that 25 inning game between Fargo and Grand Forks back in 1891. But "faking" cannot be done before a crowd of any proportions or with honest scorekeepers present without being exposed immediately. Consequently there is little ground for suspecting the authenticity of extended contests in any organized league, although fly-by-night teams, playing independently, whose games are reported only by members of the teams or their adherents, might be "faked" without immediate discovery. The real facts would be known eventually, however. There is small danger now of an epidemic of "faking." The frequency of long games recently has reduced interest in them, because they are no longer unusual. The real explanation of these long contests, especially in the minor leagues, seems to be a lack of batting. Experienced men and the scouts employed by major league club owners to look out for new talent find there is plenty of promising new pitching material in the smaller leagues, but a scarcity of players who can bat. One reason given is that the prominence and the salary of a successful pitcher tempt every youngster with pitching ability to develop it with a view to becoming a great man on the diamond. The art of batting is neglected in consequence, because every youngster on the lots knows no pitcher is expected to be a batter. This means that in a few years there will be so many good pitchers and so few batters extra-inning games will be of almost daily occurrence and will cease to excite interest. Then there will arise a demand for nine-inning games with some batting in them, and to produce that the rulers of the game will have to devise means to handicap a lot of pitchers out of business and increase the batting.

DURING the game yesterday the fans watched with interest the scores of the double-header at Chicago with the Boston team. There seemed to be a good deal of satisfaction among the spectators when the final score of the first game was put on the board and when it showed that Boston had again defeated the Sox.

It has been noticeable in the last three or four weeks that nearly every team that has visited the home of the Sox has departed with two or three victories. They had a long home stay and have not played better than .500 ball while the Naps, Tigers and Athletics have been climbing slowly, but surely.

The Highlanders took three out of five and had Griffith used a bit of good judgment he could have had four games. He had three men on bases and no out and instead of sending a man like Rickey or Keeler to bat for Doyle in the ninth inning he himself assumed the responsibility and sent up a short fly.

WHILE the Browns were losing, the Bostons broke even with the Sox, and the Pilgrims advanced a notch. Only a few games now separate the two teams for sixth place, and the Browns must play ball to hold their position.

George Moriarity is a big improvement at third for the Highlanders. Being a young man and new to the position, he was a bit nervous when he threw Stone's grounder to Chase in the ninth inning yesterday. He handles himself naturally and he is bound to prosper.

MORDECAI BROWN, the "three-fingered" twirler of the Chicago National League baseball champions, is regarded as one of the greatest pitchers in the history of baseball. The record of his work thus far this season shows some remarkable facts.

Only 29 runs have been scored against "the miner" in 148 innings. He has won 13 games and lost 2. He took the place of pitchers in four other games, so that he has worked in 19 games. In these 19 games, or, to be exact, 148 innings, 110 hits were made off his delivery, an average of .74 per inning. Runs 29, or an average of .14.

During the 148 innings, he has prevented his opponents in scoring in 128 of them, so that only in 20 innings has he been scored on.

In the eighth inning of games four runs have been scored, which is the poorest inning he has had. His average of runless innings is 86, so that it can be seen what he has accomplished.

Since Pittsburg played Chicago with Brown on the rubber and Leifield opposing, June 27, when the Pirates won the game in the first inning by scoring three times, only one run has been scored off the miner. That was by Cincinnati, July 9, in the second inning. So that he has pitched 43 innings with only one run charged against him. Allowing the one inning that Pittsburg scored, he has pitched 56 innings with only two runs counting. Going back further, when New York scored in the fourth, only three runs have been scored against him in 68 innings.

During the opening of the season Brown allowed only one run in the first 28 innings he pitched. That was scored by Pittsburg in the opening game of the season, when Pittsburg defeated him, 1—0. He shut out Cincinnati the second game and then prevented Brooklyn from scoring for five innings.

ONE-LEGGED CYCLIST SWIMS MISSISSIPPI; NOT TIRED

Alton Trick Rider Plunges Into River on a Dare and Wins Battle With Eddy.

On a dare, Charles G. Kilpatrick, one-legged bicycle rider, swam the Mississippi River at Alton Sunday. The absence of one leg did not handicap him in the least, for he plunged into the swift current and swam straight across the river—a feat which strongest swimmers find to be exceedingly difficult to perform.

Kilpatrick has been giving exhibitions of bicycle riding at Rock Springs Park. He rode down the steep steps of a building here on his bicycle. He boasted of his prowess as a swimmer to some of the showmen, and they dared him to swim the Mississippi at Alton. Arrangements were made to pull off the feat Sunday evening. Eugene Cox followed Kilpatrick in a yacht. As he neared the Missouri shore he was caught in an eddy, but pulled himself out of it without assistance.

The river is a mile wide at Alton. Kilpatrick was not even tired after the swim.

McGRATH'S HAMMER-THROW NOT ALLOWED

NEW YORK, July 22.—The mark made by Matt McGrath in the 16-pound hammer throw at Celtic Park yesterday will not stand as a record.

The New York A. C. member won the event with a fling of 173 feet 9 inches, but subsequent measurement showed the hammer handle to be one inch over the regulation length of 4 feet.

The record is 173 feet 11 inches, held by John J. Flannagan of the Irish-American A. C.

IN OUR SET

BEING LITTLE STORIES OF PEOPLE IN THE SPORT WORLD.

IF IT ISN'T A RONDEAU IT'S SOMETHING ELSE.

When Muggsy quits—
When we wipe out his name,
What will be left to tie us to the game?
Shall we forget that we're the entire cheese
When our proud leader blows to take his ease?
Shall we sit calmly down and gravely doubt
That all the rest of earth is camping out—
When Muggsy quits?

When Muggsy quits
Shall little old New York
Bow its proud head to towns that trade in pork?
Shall we refrain from using of our spikes
When some cheap lobster calls us out on strikes?
Shall sash weights cease their visits to the slats—
Shall we put up our bottles and brickbats?
When Muggsy quits?

When Muggsy quits,
Will some one take his place
Who's destitute of nerve and meek of face?
Who hasn't got the sand to holler loud
And stimulate the eager, throbbing crowd
To hurl the deadly dornick to the eye
Of him who dares attempt to nail a fly,
When Muggsy quits?

SCORE BY INNINGS.

Eftsoons we'll have to sing a softer tune
When fans are tamed and umpires are immune;
We'll have no heart to start a raucous fuss
And hurl tomatoes at the parting bus
When Muggsy quits.

THE college football correspondent cannot contain himself much longer.

IT is extremely indelicate to attach any extraneous significance to the nice little trotting meeting which was brought off at Libertyville last week. Libertyville, by the way, is in Illinois, the same State in which Chicago is situated. The Libertyville meeting was a success simply because it was permitted to be such. The zestful ingredient, the opportunity to place a wager, was afforded. The peaceful community looked on complacently and no internal injuries were inflicted.

TOMMY CORCORAN is candid enough to say that he is not retiring from baseball to give his time to his private affairs.

THE ball players of the present generation look a little bit further ahead than those of the last. The heroes of old never tired when their popularity and their batting and fielding averages were at the zenith. They generally waited until they were pushed.

WE hear of a plan to place Matt Winn at the head of racing affairs in New Orleans. Mr. Winn has a good seat, an excellent pair of hands, and a wise head. It is said that he can even keep Mr. Corrigan from going wide on the turns.

JACK JOHNSON will be stronger than ever now with the Australian white folks.

NOW BUFFALO hears "on excellent authority" that there will be something doing about St. Louis before long. Cheer up! The farther you get away from it the better it looks.

WITH HIS ear boots, his cut down boots, his finger protectors, his mask, and his mitts, the modern ball player who is careful of his person carries as much furniture as a converted pacer. If Silver Flint could only drop in on us now!

THE SUCCESSFUL professional turfman is the one who has it himself or is able to get it from some one else.

REMEMBER Frank Childs, the Black Whirlwind, the Ebony Adonis, the visible asset in the heavyweight situation? Well, he's still sticking about. He is skirmishing ahead of the morning watch and sterilizing the lunch in a modest but noisome "exchange" in a neighboring manufacturing settlement. He is still willing to meet all comers with a pair of dice, weigh in on pay day.

BROADWAY and Coney Island have now swung into the jockey class and have as a victim Herman Radtke, whose services were once worth $30,000, but now are valued at $500. It is time the ruined pugilist got a rest from the white-light resorts.

SANDOW MERTES is reported to have jumped his Minneapolis contract. He was close to the jumping off place when he signed it.

A PUGILIST never gets too old to make a spectacle of himself as long as he can hear the flutter of the wing of the oof bird.

WE ARE pleased to note that John E. Madden is getting back into his stride.

CHARLES ELLISON is one plunger who will never allow himself to burn up inside or ruin his constitution by suppressing his emotions. When he wants to bark, he barks.

RECKON WE may as well start paying off on the Cubs.

FROM ALL accounts there is an opportunity for some home missionary work in the right field bleachers at Brooklyn.

SYDNEY PAGET'S remark that Peter Pan could have won any of the last five Derbys in England may result in a challenge from Dick Croker and a snub from the royalty, while the horse will be forever barred from entering English turf events.

ROUGH-TOSS PHILOSOPHY.

Those who live by trimming shall live to be trimmed.

The wisest man falls for something every day.

The shrewder the schemer the softer the mark when the psychological guy comes along.

Many a self-made man has frittered away a slot machine harvest trying to guess the stock market.

The player is right as often as the dealer. The disadvantage of the player is a mere matter of disposition. He will throw fits of joy at a $100 profit and then take a $500 loss.

Comparing football with prize fighting to the disparagement of the former never got prize fighting anything.

The reputation of being tricky is a valuable asset to the man who always plays fair.

The man who passes his check in change for a $5000 automobile cannot be expected to submit to the will and judgment of the hired man who is teaching him to run it. If the hired man had $5000 to pay for an automobile he would not be a hired man, would he?

ATHLETES WORK IN FOREST PARK

Local Men Preparing at Triple A Grounds for Midsummer Track Events.

Sunday morning the cinder track at the Triple A Club in Forest Park was well patronized by the track men of the city preparing for the approaching midsummer games. The splendid weather had much to do in attracting the aspirant athletes, and the number that were in track suit was the largest that has been out this year.

The M. A. C., of course, contributed the largest quota and the pick of the sprint men and hurdlers were leaving their marks in great form yesterday. This man Suradahis, formerly of Wisconsin, who has not been hurdling at his best in the early meets, is just beginning to strike his college speed, and it will take a mighty fast man right now to beat him over the sticks. Big Harry Kiener was also skinning the obstacles cleverly. With a bit more speed he would make a great man.

A few of the old Triple A veterans were lured by the sight of the knee pants and spiked shoes and before noon had resurrected their old duds and were out "limbering up."

The Central Y. M. C. A. also had a small squad present, though in view of the fact that it is to be under their auspices that the banner meet of the summer is to be given, the number was not as large as might be expected.

The veteran trainer, Tom Alten, would occasionally forget his new love, golf, for just a few minutes, and come over and give the boys some pointers. Bassett was also out with his M. A. C. men.

COACH WALKER IS TO RETURN

Will Again Have Charge of the Central High Athletes in the Fall.

Rumors have been afloat that Coach M. W. Walker of the Central High School athletic teams would not be back at school this fall. It was known that Mr. Walker had been studying law during the school term and the rumors were probably started in that manner.

But they were nothing but rumors.

The Grand avenue boys could not very well do without their snappy little coach. Since he has been with Central, they have made an enviable record in all branches of athletics.

Under his tutelage of three years the lads have carried off two football championships, three tennis, three basketball, two track and one interstate baseball championship. The news of his return is a great boom to interscholastic athletics.

THOMAS TO GO TO AUSTRALIA

Barney Reynolds Wants to Take Welterweight Fighter Along on Next Steamer.

Joe Thomas, the crack California welterweight, is in big demand these days. He has been offered a match with Joe Gans by Manager Jim Coffroth and the negotiations are still pending. In addition to this, Los Angeles promoters have offered him a match and other club managers are anxious to engage his services.

Possibly more important than all these is the proposal of Barney Reynolds, who come to this country as the manager of Bill Squires. Reynolds has asked the welterweight to accompany him to Australia. Reynolds watched Thomas carefully while the latter was training at San Rafael for his meeting with Ketchell at Marysville on July 4. He formed the opinion that Thomas would walk through all available boxers in Australia without any trouble, once he became acclimated. Thomas would become the protege of Bookmaker Jack Wren at once and that big turfman would back him in all his matches. With such powerful influence behind him he would be sure of fair treatment in the ring.

Reynolds says Australia is 15 years behind the times in the matter of boxing. As Thomas has a wonderful style, it is expected that big crowds would attend any matches in which he would be a principal. The prospect is an alluring one for Thomas, who is still young and who would appreciate the chance to make a sporting pilgrimage to a foreign land.

The future movements of the California welterweight will depend upon the outcome of his present negotiations for a match with Gans.

HOPES BEAT PACIFICS IN A CLOSE GAME

In a closely contested game played on the United Railways grounds, the Hopes beat the Pacifics in the Knights of Pythias League by the score of 5 to 3.

The contest between the Robert E. Cowans and the Washingtons at Phoenix Grove resulted in a one-sided victory for the Cowans by the top-heavy score of 15 to 5.

The outcome of the games gives the leadership of the league to the Hopes, and the Washingtons bring up the rear.

MAN WHO SHOT AT WIFE IN ASYLUM HELD AT HOSPITAL

Tries to Kill When Going to Visit Children and Sanity Is Questioned.

James Duffy, 45 years old, of Broadway and Barry street, who fired one shot at his wife in a corridor of St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum, 4701 South Grand avenue, Sunday afternoon, is held at the City Hospital for observation.

Duffy, who is separated from his wife, was visiting his two children when he saw his wife on the same mission. He immediately fired at her. The bullet hit the ceiling. His wife ran and he pursued her, snapping the trigger of the revolver. Policeman Roach of the Mounted District arrested Duffy.

NEW CHAMPIONS AMONG ROWERS

Century Boat Club Crews Beat the Mound City Teams Out at Creve Coeur.

FAST TIME IS MADE

Latter Men May Now Go to Philadelphia to Compete in National Regatta.

Two inches of skin that was twisted off the left thumb of Charles Amann, stroke of the Mound City R. C., cost the club victories in the senior four and senior barge championship races at the annual regatta of the Southwestern Amateur Rowing Association at Creve Coeur Lake yesterday. For two years the Mound City four has won the championship race. Six victories and no defeats was the crew's record up to yesterday, when the Century R. C. four finished a half length in front of the wearers of the orange and black jerseys.

The race was the big feature and surprise of a regatta that was remarkable for reversals of form. As a result of their defeat the Mound City R. C. four may lose out on the trip to Philadelphia to compete in the national regatta and also the trip to Jamestown for the international regatta races. It will be decided at a meeting Thursday night whether the club members of the Mound City R. C. are still willing to send their crew East. The members of the Century R. C. at a meeting to be held Tuesday night will decide whether or not to send the Century four to Philadelphia and Jamestown as a reward for their unexpected victory yesterday.

Rowed Good Race.

The Century R. C. four—Gus Erker, Dwight Evans, Frank Lansing and Mat Meyer—rowed a brilliant race and covered the mile and a half in 9:17, which is but 5 seconds slower than the S. W. A. R. A. record for the event. The crew has been rowing but four weeks. Evans and Erker are the experienced oarsmen of the quartet, but Lansing won in a double with Earnest Hess last year. Meyer was a junior oarsman. Arthur Eveson and other Century R. C. men worked hard with their crew, but hardly thought that they would be able to take the measure of the veteran Mound Citys. All credit is due the Centurys for their victory.

Going up to the turn, the Mound Citys, rowing 39 strokes to the minute, managed to gain a length by the time the turn was reached—at least Dwight Evans of the Centurys credits the Mound Citys with that advantage. In turning the bow man is supposed to hold water while big Amann throws his 6 feet and 180 pounds of bone and muscle into powerful strokes. Amann's thumb was badly calloused. Just as he took the first stroke of the turn yesterday, his oar simply twisted the skin off his thumb from his hand to his thumb nail. The pain was great. He lost his stroke, and before he could recover his crew was demoralized. With the blood running on his hand, he bent to his work and his crew straddled down and rounded the turn. There was almost a length and a half separating the two crews at this time, the Centurys taking the turn perfectly and gaining a good lead. The Mound City crew, seeing defeat staring them in the face for the first time in two years, worked desperately. They hit up their stroke to 41 strokes, but the Centurys, especially trained to stall off the final spurt, actually hit up a 44 stroke. It was a brilliant stern chase. The Mound City's caught the Century shell and crawled up almost on even terms. Gus Erker, with a final effort, set a terrific stroke for the last few seconds and the Mound City's were beaten.

Rowed With Bandage.

Amann was almost broken-hearted after the finish. He hung his head down in the boat. Then he showed his thumb to his mates and all had a cheering word for the big fellow. They pulled into shore and made no complaint. Amann went in, had a bandage put on his thumb, and, with Frank Jaeger of the four, went out and rowed another mile and a half, winning the senior pair from the Centurys and St. Louis crews. It was a hard race, and the blood had soaked through the bandage when the crew returned to the training tent.

Amann was still game. He went out and stroked the barge crew because there were no other Mound City oarsman strong enough for the task. He got his crew off in front and it was a seesaw between the Westerns and Mound Citys all the way down the course. The Mound Citys were leading nearing the finish. The Westerns came up rapidly and managed to win by about two feet.

The other race that occasioned great surprise was the easy victory of John L. Joachim of the Western R. C. over Otto Zimmermann of Quincy, in the single scull event. Zimmermann defeated Joachim for the championship last year. Louis Joachim and Joe Dilg were pressed to their limit to land the St. Louis Rowing Club double a scant half length in front of Gus Goerge and Louis Helm, in the senior event. The record for the event was broken by the winners by 7 seconds. Their time was 10:11 1-5.

Western R. C., Mound City R. C. and St. Louis R. C. won four races, two each day. The Centurys and North Ends each won one race. The South Side Rowing Club of Quincy, which sent quite a delegation for the races, were unable to carry off a prize.

M. A. C. TO START FENCING SCHOOL

Members Have Already Begun to Practice With the Foils Among Themselves.

CUBAN CONSUL ACTIVE

Chicago Athletic Club Has Paid Attention to the Sport for Some Time.

A school for the teaching of fencing may shortly be organized in St. Louis. The nucleus of one is already established at the Missouri Athletic Club, where the Cuban Vice-Consul, Signor Alberto Santisa, and Dr. Gradwohl have taken up the Florentine system, and indulge in passages at arms several times a week.

When Signor Santiso was engaged in the Cuban consular service at Hamburg, Germany, he took fencing lessons from Prof. Galanti Guisseppi, who was then considered one of the most accomplished fencers in Europe.

Is Up in the Art.

Santiso picked up most of the points of this fascinating sport from Prof. Guisseppi and is therefore thoroughly versed in the arts of thrust and parry.

Signor Santiso expects to be promoted to an important European post in the near future, and it is his intention to again take lessons at the foils from some thoroughly qualified teacher.

Creating an Interest.

In the meantime he and Dr. Gradwohl are amusing themselves in this fashionable art of self-defense, and creating an interest in a sport which has, heretofore, been practically unknown in this city.

There are abundant facilities at the M. A. C. for a school of the kind suggested by Santiso and Gradwohl.

The C. A. A. of Chicago has given much attention to this sport, and there is no apparent reason why the Missouri Athletic Club, which would be certain to attract men of wealth and leisure, of whom there are many in St. Louis.

S.S.S. RIDS THE SYSTEM OF MALARIA

We breathe the germs and microbes of Malaria into our lungs and they are soon absorbed into the blood and distributed to all parts of the system. Then we begin to feel "out of sorts," no appetite or energy, dull headaches, a tired, sleepy feeling, and often "dumb chills" and slight fever show that this insidious disease is affecting the entire health. As the trouble progresses and the blood becomes more deeply polluted, boils and abscesses, sores and ulcers or brown splotches appear on the skin. As Malaria is a blood disease, to cure it requires a blood purifier, and S. S. S. is recognized as the best of blood purifiers. S. S. S. destroys the germs with which the blood is loaded and rids the system of Malaria. It goes down into the circulation and attacks the disease in the right way by removing every vestige of the cause and building up the blood from a weak, watery, germ-infected stream to a rich, healthful fluid, nourishing and vitalizing every part of the body by its purity. S. S. S. tones up every part of the system by its fine tonic effects and being made entirely of healing, cleansing roots, herbs and barks it is an absolutely safe remedy for young or old. Book on the blood and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

THE POST-DISPATCH'S DAILY RECORD OF MARKETS AND FINANCE

East St. Louis News

In a game filled with errors, the Ziegenheins defeated the Ben Millers of the Trolley League at Alta Sita Park Sunday afternoon by a score of 5 to 4. Barry of the Ziegenheins struck out eight of the Millers and allowed seven hits. Rehmer of the Millers struck out one and allowed five hits. The Millers made five errors and the Ziegenheins three. In the seventh inning three errors by the Millers netted four runs for the Ziegenheins and won the game for them. Only one earned run was made during the game, the others being due to errors. The Alta Sitas were defeated by the Belleville team at Belleville by a score of 4 to 3. The Fern Glens defeated the Buster Browns of St. Louis 12 to 4 at Athletic Park.

The Queen City Athletic Club will give an open air euchre Aug. 1 on the clubroom lawn, Fourteenth street and Gross avenue.

The body of William Hill, a negro, who was drowned in Cahokia Creek Saturday night, has not been recovered. He was asleep Saturday night on the rear porch at the home of Mrs. Mary Bradley overhanging Cahokia Creek at the west approach of the Broadway viaduct, and rolled off into the creek.

The funeral of Mrs. Anna M. Oulvey, wife of Jules Oulvey of Edgemont, who died Friday, was held Sunday afternoon from the family residence to Mount Carmel Cemetery.

Allen J. Zent of Belleville and Miss Blanche Hinckley of East St. Louis were married Saturday night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hinckley, 715 Veronica avenue, by Rev. John Chanler White, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal Church. They will live at 1307 St. Louis avenue.

The ladies of the Winstanley Baptist Mission will give a lawn social Wednesday night on the lawn at the home of H. J. Drummond, 624 North Twenty-sixth street. The lawn will be brilliantly lighted with electric lights and the ladies have arranged many unique surprises for the entertainment.

Joseph Jengling of 745 North Fifteenth street fell into a vat of boiling water at the Swift packing plant Sunday and was badly scalded about the legs and body. He was removed to St. Mary's Hospital and is in a serious condition.

An inquest will be held Monday afternoon on the body of Henry Elschlieger, 40 years old, who dropped dead in Harding's saloon, Broadway and Twenty-second street, Sunday night. He was sitting at a table in the saloon and had just drunk a glass of beer when he fell to the floor dead. He was a heater at the McDonald steam forge plant and has no relatives known in East St. Louis.

Joseph Miller of 1822 Exchange avenue accidentally cut himself in the side with a butcher knife Saturday when at work at the Armour packing plant. He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital and his condition is serious.

Mayor Cook is visiting in Montana, where he is inspecting the property of a copper-mining company of which he is president. He will return in about ten days.

The funeral of Annie Earle, the 7-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Earle of 904 North First street, who died Sunday of cholera infantum, will be held Monday afternoon from the family residence to St. Peter's Cemetery.

The funeral of Frank Strohm, 34 years old, who died Sunday night at the Henrietta Hospital following an operation for appendicitis, will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. from the home of his father, 1233 Cleveland avenue, to St. Peter's Cemetery. He was single, and was formerly a member of the East St. Louis Fire Department.

AGENTS' REPORTS.

Amherst Place Sale.

The Holbrook-Blackwelder Real Estate Trust Co. has sold for Amherst Realty Co. two lots, 60x141, on east side of Amherst place, 110 feet south of Page boulevard, at $37.50 per foot to Mr. W. C. Mitchell. Mr. Mitchell purchased with a view to building a single flat for his own use. The improvements are now being made and are included in the price.

Fischer Architectural Co.

In addition to a number of contracts closed for the erection of new buildings for clients, reports of which will be made later, the A. A. Fischer Architectural Co. reports the following sales:

5552 Page boulevard, a beautiful house containing six rooms, bath and reception hall; very beautifully decorated; for A. A. Fischer Architectural and Building Co.; price $5750; sold to Mrs. O. Chapman.

5342 Vernon avenue, handsome eight-room house, with Dutch dining room, parlor in white enamel, library finished in Flemish oak, tile bath, handsomely decorated and finished; for A. A. Fischer Architectural and Building Co. to Mr. Furth, who bought for a home.

Departed—Saltillo for Tennessee River, Dick Fowler for Cairo, Golden Rod for Tennessee River, Lyda for Cumberland River, Blue Spot for Joppa, Joe Fowler for Evansville.

Blazing Curtains Cause Scare.

Flames caused by striking a match near a pair of lace curtains threatened to destroy the dwelling of Mrs. William Haley at 7207 Pennsylvania avenue Sunday night. Policeman Michael Healy and Fireman William Mahoney, neighbors, extinguished the blaze with buckets of water before it had gained much headway.

Servant and Money Gone.

An auburn-haired servant girl is being sought by the police at the request of Lovel L. Drenner of 5962 Cates avenue. She was engaged by the Drenner family Saturday and after working part of the afternoon disappeared. After she had left the family missed two purses and $7. She is 22 years old and said her home is in Ferguson.

Wielder of Gas Pipe Is Held.

Frank Koske of Wilderman Station was held to the grand jury by Justice Wangelin at Belleville Monday on the charge of assault to kill on James Fleming. Koske batted Fleming with a gaspipe in an argument over the respective merits of different baseball pitchers.

Sells Liquor; Is Arrested.

Dose Murray was arrested Sunday upon a charge of selling liquor without a license in Wellston. Murray alleges that he was working for Jessie Reuebling, who had a club license.

STOCK MARKET CLOSE WAS ABOUT HALF POINT LOWER

Active Trading All Day and Fluctuations Wider Than for a Week—Slight Loss Is Recorded on the General List.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 22, 3 p. m.—The market closed active and irregular, with an average loss of ½ point over the day's opening for the rail issues that were active, and nearly as much loss for the active industrials.

NEW YORK, July 22, 12:30 p. m.—The stock market generally was lower after the first hour. The volume of trading was up to the expectations, being over 250,000 to noon, and the price of call loans ruled lower from the opening of 2¾ per cent to 2½ per cent at noon.

The wage loss of the leading rail issues to noon was 1 point. Steel common lost ⅝ point, while Amlagamated Copper and Smelter lost a point. At noon the trading was dull.

NEW YORK, July 22.—9:30 a. m.—The stock market opened buoyant, with good trading, good tone and ⅛ to ¾ higher for the general list.

The higher opening was not on account of any market news over Sunday. Nor did the commission houses attribute it to further bull advertisements published Monday by Lawson. On the Stock Exchange the brokers think Lawson is endeavoring to come in at the end of a movement that has well started upward before he trailed and that he is attempting to relieve the position as a market factor by following judiciously.

There was nothing of a bullish character in the foreign situation Monday except the absence of anything unfavorable, which means a good deal now if not so much as it did two weeks ago.

At the end of the first half hour of the market stocks were ⅛ to ½ lower than the opening, but the tone was still good and trading active.

Boys Set Fire to House.

The half-completed residence of George Kerth Jr., on Way avenue, between Harrison and Clay avenues, Kirkwood, was set on fire by boys playing with matches Sunday afternoon. The flames were extinguished before the house was greatly damaged. It was the second time within two weeks boys have fired the house when playing with matches.

LIVESTOCK.

Receipts—Cattle, 9500; hogs, 3500; sheep, 1800; horses and mules, 600.

CATTLE—About 6700 quarantine and 2800 native cattle made up the day's liberal supply; some pretty good kinds were included and the best native steers and good, fat cows and heifers sold steady, but other kinds of native stock, as well as the Southern supply sold slowly at weak to lower prices.

The visible supply of wheat in the United States decreased 449,000 bu and now amounts to 46,637,000 bu, against an increase of 1,668,000 bu, with 25,915,000 bu in sight at the same time last year. World's shipments were 7,592,000 bu, against 7,760,000 bu last week and 6,432,000 bu last year. Wheat and flour on ocean passage decreased 1,688,000 bu.

The local market was rather quiet, with the trading light and almost entirely local. Prices were nervous, though moving in a rather narrow range, and both the buying and selling power seemed limited. The weather is splendid throughout the winter wheat belt, being clear and warm, and ideal conditions for harvesting prevail. Threshing in Kansas and the Southwest and the other winter wheat states is progressing favorably and the returns are more satisfactory than was expected. The movement to the Western markets picked up sharply and new wheat is now coming in in a good volume. Country acceptances, especially in Ohio, were the largest of the season, most contracts calling for August delivery. Primary shipments were small, and stocks generally showed increases, though supplies in the Northwest, where the movement of old spring wheat continues heavy, have begun to decrease.

Too much rain is being reported in the spring wheat belt. There were unsatisfactory advices from Minnesota and North Dakota to the effect that the recent heavy downpours have done harm, and that the plant has turned red, with rust apparent in many sections. The present weather in both belts is good. There was a good export demand for wheat today and a good volume was again worked for abroad.

The opening on the local market was weak. The splendid weather and a cessation of damage reports, together with the lower cables, the latter being due to the good weather abroad and a reported condition of 70 in winter wheat in Prussia and 82 in spring wheat, caused some selling. There was a large interest, a small long one, however, and this put the market in a technically healthy condition. Early prices were nervous. September opend ¼c lower at 88⅛@¼c, declined to 88c, advanced to 88½c, declined to 88¼c, advanced to 89c, and sagged to 88⅞c. December wheat opened ½c lower at 92⅛c, advanced to 92⅝c, sagged to 92¼c, and advanced to 92⅞c.

The late trading was quite active and the demand good. The serious damage reports from the Northwest, which began to come in late in the day, and the bullish visible supply statement caused some general covering among the shorts, and this, meeting with a small supply, advanced prices sharply. Trading was on a good scale late in the day, and the close was practically at the day's high point, and was at a sharp gain for the day. September wheat advanced steadily to 89½@89⅝c and closed at 89½c bid, 1c to 1⅛c higher for the day, and December wheat advanced to and closed with offerings at 93½c, a gain of ⅞c for the day.

The cash wheat market was dull and prices were a shade easier. Primary receipts of wheat were 955,280 bu, against 1,623,561 bu last year, and shipments were 246,175 bu, against 300,000 bu last year. Local receipts were 119,000 bu, against 161,331 bu last year, and shipments were 15,795 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour for the day fere 377,000 bu.

The weather for corn is very good, being clear and warm, and cables were ⅜d lower. This caused some selling at the start, and the opening was ⅜c lower, but there was a large short interest in the market, and the contingent later covered liberally on the strength in wheat and in Chicago corn and some more or less serious damage reports.

Receipts of corn continue light and shipments were liberal, though stocks are still increasing. Trading was light and purely local, and the close was ½c to ⅜c higher for the day. September corn opened ⅜c lower at 50⅜c and advanced steadily, closing at 51⅜c bid. December corn opened ⅛c lower at 47c declined to 46¾c, advanced to 47¾@47⅞c and closed at 47⅝@47¾c bid. The visible supply of corn increased 670,000 bu, and no wamounts to 8,999,000 bu, against an increase of 690,000 bu with 5,851,000 bu in sight at the same time last year. World's shipments of corn were 6,647,000 bu, against 7,970,000 bu last week and 4,071,000 bu a year ago. Corn on ocean passage decreased 1,824,000 bu.

Cash corn was in slow demand and prices were weak. Primary receipts of corn were 491,610 bu, against 451,320 bu last year, and shipments were 895,055 bu, against 548,000 bu last year. Local receipts were 96,800 bu, against 76,225 bu last year, and shipments were 38,405 bu. Corn clearances were 61,000 bu.

Oats were quiet. July option sold ⅜c lower at 45½c. There were reports of general rust and poor conditions from Nebraska and the Northwest, and this, with the strength in other grains, caused a good tone, and September, the only active option, opened ⅛c lower at 36⅝c, and advanced steadily to 39⅝c, where it closed with bids. Trading was light.

Cash oats were easier and the barket dull. Primary receipts of oats were 444,380 bu, against 483,390 bu last year and shipments were 477,960 bu, against 209,000 bu last year. Local receipts of oats were 112,000 bu, against 88,000 bu last year and shipments were 35,675 bu. Oats clearances were 760 bu.

Minneapolis stocks decreased 50,000 bu for two days. Following are the Northwestern car lots: Minneapolis, 319, against 210 last year; Duluth, 98, against 11 last year. Total, 417, against 221 last year.

FLOUR—Receipts were 10,850 bbls; shipments, 4740 bbls. Quote soft winter flour, medium grades, in jute, $2.60@3.10; hard jute patents, $4.00@4.10; straight, $3.60@4; extra fancy, $3.75@4.00 in wood; low to medium sacks, patents, $4.05@4.30; straight at $3.80@4; clear at $2.90@3.30; low grade at $2.40@2.70; spring patents at $4.75@4.90 in jute.

HAY—Receipts 570 tons local and 160 tons through; shipments, 435 tons. Quote timothy hay, choice, $19.50; No. 1, $17.50 to $18.50; No. 2, $16.50@17; No. 3, $11@14. Clover hay, choice, $19.50@20; No. 1, $17 to $18; No. 1 clover mixed, $18@18.50; No. 2 clover mixed, $14@17. Prairie hay, choice, $12; No. 1, $11@11.50; No. 2, $9@10.

CHARLES HUTTIG HAS RETURNED

President of Third National Says New Skyscraper Is Looking Up.

President Charles Huttig of the Third National Bank was at his office in that institution again Monday after 20 days' absence in the East with his family, members of which will remain a month longer at Asbury Park. Mr. Huttig said he had been taking a vacation and knew nothing about business except that things in St. Louis, indicating the bank's new skyscraper at Broadway and Olive street, are looking up.

"Well, yes. I did see the report of the Minnesota Bankers' convention and the comment made on the currency question," he said.

"Will you make any reply as a member of the currency committee of the American Bankers' Association?"

"Well, I don't know now. I'll think it over. It's pretty warm yet, you know, and the next convention is not so far away."

As to the general situation in the East, Mr. Huttig said the general tone is greatly improved over there to what it was last winter and spring, and that the situation there is close to if not quite normal. Mr. Huttig expects to return to Asbury Park in about a month to accompany his family to St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, July 22.

In Liverpool today the market opened at a little higher level than expected from the closing prices in New York on Saturday. The first sales were made at a loss of 2 points from Saturday. To have conformed with New York, a decline of 3 to 4 points on the near position and a decline of 2 points to ½ point gain on the distant positions was due.

At 12:15 (Liverpool time) sales were being made at a 1-point loss from Saturday on the near positions and unchanged to 1 point lower on the distant positions.

Spot prices in Liverpool were unchanged: Middling quoted at 7.09d. Sales, 5000 bales of which 4000 bales were American cotton. Imports, 4000 bales, none American.

The New York market opened at a lower level than the final prices of Saturday by from 3 to 5 points on the new crop months. First sales were as follows: Oct., 11.66c; Dec., 11.73c; March, 11.87c; Jan., 11.77c.

TRACTION PREFERRED IS CHEAPER, $1 PER SHARE

With Heavy Selling, Speculative Holdings Purchased at 67½, Are Sold at 68½ to 69¼ on St. Louis Stock Market.

Stock issues of the United Railways ruled the forenoon session of the St. Louis Stock Exchange Monday, the price fluctuating on the rather heavy selling and the close being $1 per share easier after the majority of sales had been recorded. The preferred stock lead in the trading, with sales of over 200 shares.

The decline in the price of the preferred represented the taking of profits by the speculative holders, who invested for a short turn of the market when the stock was back at 67½ and has no bearing on the upward movement of the stock that started ten days ago and was heralded as the signal for advance to 70 on the stock exchange. That movement was based on earnings which, according to the last calculation, are keeping well up to the increase. If the sales Monday represented anything further than the unloading of a speculative line, the inquiry would have shown a difference in bid and ask at the close, which showed 68¾ bid and the same asked, with no further transactions. Investment holders had none to sell under the prevailing 69½ of last week. Considerable more than one-half of the stock sold Monday forenoon was at 69¼, which is ¼ under the recorded sales of Saturday.

About 100 shares of the voting first stock of traction went at 31¼, which represents a price nearly steady with last sales recorded.

Traction 4-per-cent bonds sold firm at 80½ in good volume and closed 80½ bid and 80⅝ asked.

There was some trading in Bank of Commerce, stock firm at 258 with 258 bid and 258½ asked at the close. The inquiry was active for other bank and trust shares, but this list has not been active recently when prices were inclined to sag. The market tone at the close of the forenoon session was steady and strong.

FINANCIAL.

Messrs. George H. Burr & Co., commercial paper brokers, 304-5-6 Security Bldg., report local money: Indorsed bills receivable 4 to 6 months, 6 per cent; high-grade and single-name paper, 4 to 6 months, 6 per cent; other names, not so well known, 6 to 6½ per cent on first-class security.

Call money on the New York Exchange opened Monday at 2½ per cent.

Local bank clearings and balances: Clearings for Monday, $11,367,922; last week, $10,092,253. Balances for today, $679,408; last week, $1,201,259. Decrease clearings, $724,331; decrease balances, $251,451.

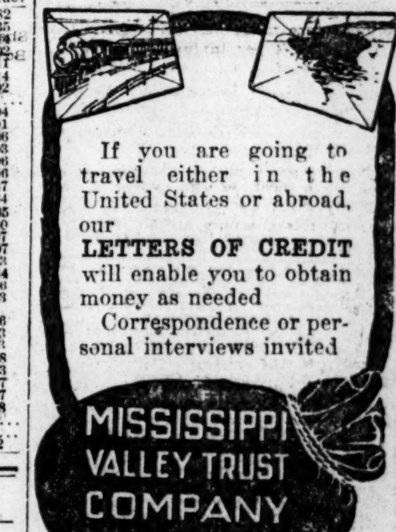

Requirements of the Southwest for the moving of the cotton and other crops can only be approximately gauged at this time. Judging by the amount of money taken out today, it is quite likely that local bank deposits will suffer a further decrease during the present week so far as the reserves of interior institutions are concerned.

Over $780,000 of the city of St. Louis 20-year water-renewal gold 3.65s have already been sold over the counter at Comptroller Player's office in the City Hall. This leaves about $1,200,000 of the bonds yet to be disposed of at par and accrued interest.

Lost and Found

IF YOU LOSE ANYTHING—Advertise it here. It will be returned to you if an honest person finds it. Remarkable recoveries are brought about every day through this column. All druggists receive Wants Ads for the Post-Dispatch at office rates.

IF YOU FIND ANYTHING bring it to the Post-Dispatch Lost and Found Bureau, 210-212 North Broadway

Get a claim check. Have it advertised. Reclaim it if the owner does not.

THE LAW—People who find lost articles are interested in knowing that the State Law (section 8475 to 8480, Revised Statutes of Missouri, 1890), is strict in requiring them to seek the owners through advertisement and otherwise, and that a failure to do so, if same can be proven, involves a severe penalty.

TO ADVERTISERS.

Count 7 average words as one line. No ad accepted for less than the price of two lines.

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to revise advertisements and to reject or omit and refund the amount paid.

Report promptly to the Want Ad Manager failure to get returns or experience with fraudulent or dishonest advertisers.

Return wrong replies, giving your receipt number.

Two or more insertions are better than one. Try a three-line ad—results almost certain for anything.

Money refunded on unused insertions when requested prior to day of publication.

ROOSEVELT'S OWN APPOINTEES WILL TEST HIS POLICIES

Friendly Judges to Weigh Constitutionality of Great Problems, Including Trust Laws and Income Tax.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Policies of Government suggested by President Roosevelt and which will, if enacted into statutory law, eventually be tested as to their constitutionality by Federal judges, include among others the following propositions:

1. The control of all railroads or other methods of transportation within individual State limitations as coming under the constitutional provision retaining governmental control over post roads.
2. The control of all trusts transgressing Federal laws through receivers to be appointed by Federal judges.
3. The control of all individual fortunes by the imposition of an income tax.
4. The control of all agencies employing labor in so far as the liability of the employer is concerned by the elimination of the plea of contributory negligence.
5. The control of all coal deposits now on Government reservations to be developed under license from Washington.
6. The control of child labor.
7. The control of all railroads engaged in interstate commerce by means of governmental regulation of rates.

Number of Roosevelt Judges.

President Roosevelt today, through appointments made by him, dominates the Federal judiciary to this extent:

Supreme Court: Three Associate Justices, one-third of the membership.

Circuit: Twelve of the 29 judges, or 41.7 per cent.

District Court: Forty-two of the 80 judges, or 52.5 per cent.

By the end of his present term, March 4, 1909, it will have been possible for him to appoint:

Seven of the nine justices of the Supreme Court, nearly 78 per cent of that tribunal.

Seventeen of the 29 judges of the Circuit Court, or nearly 59 per cent.

Forty-seven of the 80 judges of the District Court, or nearly 59 per cent.

Should he be elected for another term, ending March 4, 1913, it will be possible for him to appoint judges as follows:

Eight of the nine justices of the Supreme Court.

Twenty of the 29 judges of the Circuit Court, or substantially 70 per cent of its membership.

Fifty-one of the 80 judges of the District Court, or substantially 64 per cent of its membership.

Names of Roosevelt Judges.

The Federal judges who may be called upon to determine the constitutionality of the laws proposed by President Roosevelt include those he has appointed since he succeeded President McKinley, who are:

Oklahoma—Chief Justice, J. H. Buford, Feb. 16, 1906; Associate justices—C. F. Irwin, Feb. 25, 1904; D. F. Burwell, March 22, 1906; Bayard T. Hainer, Feb. 15, 1906 Milton C. Garber, May 13, 1906; John F. Pancoast, May 13, 1906; Frank E. Gillette, May 13, 1906.

Porto Rico—Associate Justices of the Supreme Court, James H. McLeary, Dec. 17, 1901; Adolph Grant Wolf, Dec. 11, 1904; United States District Judge, Bernard S. Redey, June 15, 1906.

District of Columbia—Court of Appeals, Seth Shepherd, Chief Justice, promoted by President Roosevelt, June 15, 1905; associate justices, Louis E. McComas, Dec. 6, 1906; Charles H. Robb, Dec. 11, 1906. Supreme Court—Associate Justice, Thomas H. Anderson, Feb. 6, 1902; Ashley M. Gould, Dec. 8, 1902; Daniel Thew Wright, Nov. 17, 1903; Wendell H. Stafford, Dec. 13, 1904.

Probable Changes.

In the remainder of his term President Roosevelt may be called upon to appoint judges to fill vacancies in the following courts:

Supreme Court—Melville Weston Fuller, Chief Justice, eligible for retirement now; John Marshall Harlan, Associate Justice, eligible for retirement now; David Josiah Brewer, Associate Justice, retirement possible in November; Rufus Peckham, Associate Justice, eligible for retirement in 1908.

Circuit Court—William L. Putnam, Portland, Me., First Circuit, eligible for retirement now; William J. Wallace, Albany, N. Y., Second Circuit, eligible this year; Don A. Pardee, Atlanta, Ga., Fifth Circuit, eligible this year; Andrew P. McCormick, Dallas, Tex., Fifth Circuit, eligible since 1902.

District Court—Harry T. Toulmin, Southern Alabama, eligible next year; Thomas J. Morris, Maryland, eligible this year; William Lochren, Minnesota, eligible since 1902; John F. Phillips, Western Missouri, eligible since 1904.

Possible Appointments.

Should President Roosevelt succeed himself, in the four years from March 4, 1909, to March 4, 1913, the probable Federal judicial vacancies he would have to fill would be as follows:

Supreme Court — Oliver Wendell Holmes, Associate Justice, eligible for retirement in 1911.

Court of Claims—Stanton J. Peele, Chief Justice; eligible for retirement Feb. 11, 1913.

Circuit Court—George M. Dallas, Philadelphia, Third Circuit; eligible for retirement in 1909. George Gray, Wilmington, Del., Third Circuit; eligible in 1910. Nathan Goff, Clarksburg, W. Va., Fourth Circuit; eligible Feb. 9, 1913. Henry F. Severns, Kalamazoo, Mich., Sixth Circuit; eligible in 1910.

District Court — Charles Swayne, Northern Florida; eligible in 1912. Walter Evans, Western Kentucky; eligible in 1912. Aleck Bearman, Western Louisiana; eligible in 1909. Albert C. Thompson, Southern Ohio; eligible in 1912. William H. Drawley, Southern Carolina; eligible in 1911. Henry M. Swan, Eastern Michigan; eligible in 1910.

Thus it would appear that President Roosevelt's proposition may be weighed by a judiciary largely of his own creation. Of course the probabilities do not take into consideration vacancies resulting from death or resignation.

DRINKS POISON ON THE STREET

Separated From Wife Man Tries to Die.

Frank Rafferty, 35 years old, of 2738 Chouteau avenue, is in the City Hospital in a serious condition, as the result of drinking carbolic acid on the street. He is a member of the Lawton Club, at 1010 Ohio avenue, and after drinking the poison he staggered to the clubrooms near by.

He fell across the door, and members alarmed carried him to a drug store. Rafferty has been separated from his wife for some time. He refused to say why he tried to kill himself.

WOMAN LEADS PICKPOCKET GANG

Croks Operate Succesfully on Cars Until Warned at Delmar Garden.

Pickpockets, headed by a stylishly dressed woman, operated extensively on the street cars running between Delmar Garden and Creve Coeur Lake Sunday evening. They were recognized by James Cullen, a former city detective, but now watchman at Delmar Garden, and ordered to quit the county. About fifteen persons were robbed. The St. Louis police are on the lookout for the gang.

According to stories told by victims, the woman would board a car first and push her way through the crowd of passengers. While she thus held the attention of the victim her accomplices would surround him and take what valuables he had.

Cullen telephoned Night Chief of Police Gillaspy, who ordered detectives to be on the lookout for the gang. The police failed to find any trace of them and Monday morning detectives were detailed to look them up. Two of the robbers are described as being over six feet tall, the other two short and heavy set.

One of the victims was found to be William Grahn of 4609 McMillan avenue, who reported at 3 a. m. Monday at the Newstead Avenue Police Station that he had been robbed of a $150 diamond stud on a Creve Coeur car at Delmar Garden.

Grahn was with Samuel Silverstein of 21 South Sixth street, and they were at the rear of the car. Two men, pushing through the crowd, quarreled with other passengers, and in the excitement Grahn felt a tug at his stud. The two men jumped from the car.

Grahn describes the men as being about 25 years old and wearing blue serge suits. One of them is below medium height. He thought he recognized him as a former saloon keeper in Chestnut street.

GIRL HURT IN TROLLEY CAR

It Jumps the Track and She Is Rendered Unconscious.

Miss Agnes Bohlem, 22 years old, of 4561 North Market street, was painfully injured Sunday night when Bellefontaine car, 2071, on which she was a passenger, left the rails on the Fourteenth street viaduct.

The rear trucks jumped the tracks, throwing the body of the car with such force that Miss Behlem was knocked senseless. She was assisted to her home by Edward A. Bonner of 7412 Flora boulevard, Maplewood, who was a fellow passenger.

Miss Bohlem's side was badly bruised.
